

2 New Graduate Courses Set At Nazareth College

"History of the American Frontier" and "Theories of Learning" are the graduate courses to be offered at Nazareth College for the second semester, the director of graduate studies announced today.

The classes will meet one night a week, from 6:40 until 8:20, and will carry two hours credit each toward the master's degree. Instruction will begin in January but registrations are now being accepted.

The history course, to be taught by Prof. William R. Gwinn, will trace the development of the American frontier from James town and Plymouth to the turn of the century, with emphasis on the continent. European traditions transformed on the stage of the American wilderness, resulting in a unique cultural heritage effects of which can still be observed today.

The education course, taught by Walter B. Kolesnik, will analyze and compare leading psychological explanations of the way knowledge is acquired, retained and applied. The study of Behaviorism, Connectionism, Gestalt and Scholastic psychology will be included.

THE COURSES, which are open to men as well as women, may be applied toward meeting state requirements for permanent teaching certification. According to present New York state law, 30 hours of college work in addition to the bachelor's degree, is required for such certification.

This semester graduate courses in "Principles and Techniques of Guidance" and "Contemporary Problems in Education" are offered Tuesday and Thursday evenings, respectively. Classes meet in Room 117 of the Administration Building, 4245 East Ave.

Further information about the graduate program may be secured from the director or graduate studies.

Transit Company Promotes Lang

William A. Lang, 84 Kron St., formerly a member of the editorial staff of the Catholic Courier Journal is executive vice president of the Rochester Transit Corporation.

His election to the office was announced Monday.

He has been a vice president and a director of the company since 1948. A former newspaper editor on the Rochester Journal American and Rochester Times Union, Lang was deputy commissioner of public safety in 1938. He later became deputy director of civilian protection and defense during the war years.

He was named assistant to John F. Uffert, RTC president in March, 1948, in charge of public relations. He was named a vice president in January, 1949, and a director in April, 1950.

Lang, a graduate of Aquinas Institute, has handled many outstanding publicity projects for Catholic groups.

'Kolping Day' Observance Slated For Three Societies

Annual Kolping Day will be celebrated by members of the Catholic Kolping Society of Rochester at the Notre Dame Retreat House, 246 Alexander St., Rochester on Sunday, Dec. 21.

Kolping Day is observed by Kolping Societies throughout the world during December to honor their founder Father Adolph Kolping who was born Dec. 8, 1813 and died on Dec. 4, 1865.

The Observance here will bring together members of the Kolping Society, the Ladies Auxiliary and "Young Kolping," a group of teenagers in the Kolping family. MASS AT 8:30 A.M. celebrated by the Very Rev. Augustine J. Aylward, C.S.S.R., Praeses of the Society and Retreat House Rector, will open the program. The Mass will be offered for the Beatification of Adolph Kolping according to Leo Saum, president of the Rochester unit. Members will receive Holy Communion in a body.

Prior to the Mass will be the blessing and dedication of a new Kolping banner. Breakfast at the Retreat House will follow.

In the evening, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George W. Eckl, Honorary Praeses and Father Aylward will speak on the program and work

Sacristy Larger At Bl. Sacrament

Parishioners of Blessed Sacrament Church have been visiting and inspecting the enlarged and improved sacristy in the church. That they have been favorably impressed with the many improvements made was reported in "The Parish Weekly".

Among changes reported are: an enlarged vestry, new lighting fixtures, new vestment cases, new baptismal railing, beautiful new vestments, several new cabinets, new lockers for the altar boys' cassocks and surplices.

Also there are: new rubber tile flooring, new encasement enclosing safe and basin, new chairs, new bench for relatives at baptisms, new desk for taking baptismal and writing Mass cards and other items.

"The Weekly" invites all members of the parish to view the improvements.
