

Hanson Baldwin Slated In More Lecture Series

Hanson Baldwin, the country's foremost military analyst and a Pulitzer prize winner will be the lecturer in the Thomas More Forum Series on Monday, Feb. 2 at 8:15 p. m. in Rochester's Chamber of Commerce according to the Very Rev. Msgr. John S. Randall, series director.

Mr. Baldwin has been military editor of the New York Times since 1942. Author of at least eight books on military subjects, he covered every "hot spot" in World War 2.

In recent years he has traveled extensively that he might personally determine the world's state of preparedness and discover the "soft spots" where the enemy might strike next.

THE FAMED correspondent returned from Europe on Dec. 24. He spent more than two months overseas, conferring with military leaders of NATO.

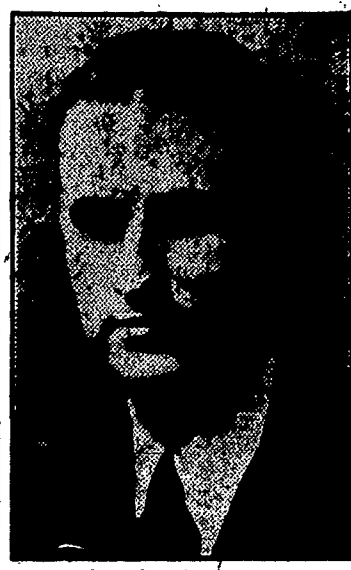

In his lecture, "Where Do We Go From Here?" Mr. Baldwin will discuss such problems as:

"What are the possibilities of a 'hot' war this year?"

"Are the armies of Europe ready for armed invasion?"

"Has NATO lost its effectiveness since President-elect Eisenhower surrendered his command?"

The series is sponsored by the Catholic Courier Journal, 35 Scio St.

'Infant' Novena Set At St. Mary's

A special Novena in honor of the Infant Jesus of Prague for expectant mothers will open in Old St. Mary's Church, Washington Park, on Tuesday, Jan. 27 according to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James C. McAhiff, pastor.

The Novena will be conducted by the Rev. Francis E. Hester, assistant pastor, for the nine Tuesdays, ending on March 24. Services will begin at 8 p.m. each Tuesday.

These special prayers of petition and services are "for expectant mothers asking God's help in the safe delivery of the child and for sound health of mother and child. Married couples desiring children who seek God's assistance are also asked to the Novena," Father Hester said.

Pope Receives NCWC News Service Group

Very Rev. Msgr. Joseph J. Sullivan, NCWC News Service correspondent and priest of the Rochester diocese, was among members of the American Catholic Press corps in Rome to cover the consistories creating the new Cardinals to be received in special audience by His Holiness Pope Pius XII.

The press representatives represented by the Holy Father are all associated with the NCWC News Service in Washington, D. C. The Pontiff asked God's blessings on "the most important work" of the Catholic press.

Also in the group were Bishop Thomas K. Gorman of Dallas, Episcopal Chairman of the NCWC Press Department; Frank A. Hall, News Service director, and Mrs. Hall and G. R. Brunst, NCWC Foreign Editor.

Ft. Looby Directs Letters To Africa

High school students seeking lists to write to students in high schools and colleges in Africa are directed to the Rev. Arthur Looby, C.S.B., Chairman of the High School Committee for Africa, C.S.M.C., Aquinas Institute, 1127 Dewey Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

The direction for writing appeared in "The Shield" dated Dec. 1, and official publication of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade.

American high school students writing to students on their level in Africa were advised: "Anything historical or scientific will be greatly appreciated, provided it is expressed in good elementary English, avoiding equally 'big words' and slang. "Little stories and anecdotes, teaching simple lessons, would also be of interest. Descriptions of America with its natural beauty spots, ways of doing things and general information will be interesting to readers in Africa."

Draft Team Lists Cards District Auxiliary Drill Team of the Knights of St. John will hold its Annual Card Party in Our Lady of Perpetual Help School Hall, Joseph Avenue, on Thursday, Jan. 29, at 8:00 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Catholic Press Directory Due In May 1953

The 1953 Catholic Press Directory will be published on May 1 by the Catholic Press Association, it was announced in New York by Msgr. John S. Randall, chairman, after a meeting of the CPA Directory Committee.

The committee announced there will be no increase in rates for advertising space, although the CPA board of directors has recommended consideration of a raise.

The committee announced that the 1952 Directory proved a successful medium in securing advertising lineage for publications whose ads appeared in it. This will result in an increase in space sales for the 1953 issue and the estimated increase in directory ad lineage makes a raise like unnecessary, it was said.

"IT IS also expected to add further new advertisers since the Directory under association auspices is now a definitely established success with two profitable issues to its credit," the committee stated.

The committee also decided to increase the print order to 10,000 copies; to increase service to Directory advertisers, especially in preparation of effective space messages; to improve house ads designed to heighten interest in the Catholic market, and to re-arrange market and circulation data.

The committee said proofs for corrections in editorial listings will be sent to Catholic publishers this month and that space contracts for advertisers also will be sent out. Closing date for corrections and ads, the committee said, will be March 16.

Monsignor Randall again will be assisted in publication of the 1953 edition by J. Louis Meyer of The Official Catholic Directory, and Charles S. Murphy of The Catholic Review, Baltimore, Md.

Marking Church Transformation

Bishop Commends Novena At St. Joseph's Rites

BY ROBERT SMETT

His Excellency, Bishop Kearney pontificated at a Solemn Mass last Sunday in St. Joseph's Church, Franklin St., commemorating the completion of the new interior decoration of the church.

In addressing the congregation, Bishop Kearney said that though the church was dedicated to St. Joseph, he felt that the great saint would "way" as he always did to the Immaculate Mother who wrote on earth, and let us praise the Mother of God on this day.

The Bishop spoke regarding the Wednesday Novena devotions and what they had come to mean to the whole city of Rochester.

"WHO WILL ever know the vast amount of prayers offered to the Mother of God every day in St. Joseph's Church," the Bishop said.

"We read of the miracles of Lourdes, the wonders of Fatima, but only God knows the wonders that have taken place within the souls of many who have come to pray before the Shrine of Our Mother of Perpetual Help in St. Joseph's Church. Only God will know the broken hearts that have been mended, only God will know the souls who gained hope to go on living when things seemed dark and desperate," Bishop Kearney expressed his

Mass by the Very Rev. James T. Connolly, C.S.S.R., Assistant Priest; Rev. Matthew Tobin, C.S.S.R., Deacon of the Mass; Rev. Paul J. Koch, C.S.S.R., Subdeacon; Rev. Joseph Strauss, C.S.S.R., and Rev. John Crowell, C.S.S.R., Deacons of Honor and Rev. William Murray, C.S.S.R., Cross Bearer.

Very Rev. Msgr. John E. Maney, Vice Chancellor and Master of Ceremonies, while minor offices were filled by seminarians.

The renovation and redecoration of St. Joseph's Church, Rochester was executed by R. Attinasi and Sons, and H. J. Butler associate.
