DESPITE Communist persecution of the Church in China, how many foreign missionaries still remain? The latest statistics indicate that out of 5,380 foreign missionaries who were there in 1948, only 723 remain; of these 472 are priests and bishops, 81 are brothers and 260 are Sisters. Many of these in addition to 200 Chinese priests, are in prison. The work of the Church in China now falls principally on 1,700 Chinese priests and 5,000 Chinese Sisters.

Why does God allow the forces of Satan to so ravage His chaste bride, the Church? The early Christians must have asked themselves the same question when they saw Paul persecute the Church which was then less than ten years old.

When we answer this question, we are at the heart of the missionary vocation. We are not sent out to convert the world, because the whole world will not be converted. There will always be wolves among the sheep. We are to bear witness to Christ, and to bear witness to Christ means not just to suffer, but to triumph over suffering in the name of Christ. The Communists suffer for their anti-Christ ideology, and sometimes more than we Christians suffer for our faith; but they do it for their own honor and glory.

The missionary differs from the Communist in two ways: first he suffers for Christ and not because of personal or collective egoism; second, he triumphs over his sufferings, so that joy may spring from sorrow, and life from death. The Communist has no resurrection to comfort him: Lenin is only an embalmed mummy, as Stalin will be one day. But the missionary knows that because Christ has risen, He will rise. Hence he says with Paul: "On all things we suffer tribulation, but we are not distressed . . . we suffer persecution, but we are not forsaken; we are cast down, but we perish not . . . the life of Jesus may be manifest in our flesh."

It pleases God that in China in this Hour His Divine Son shall not be known through His orphanages, but through His wounds; not through His hospitals, but through tribulation; not through pulpits, but in prisons. To be cast down would mean we did not believe in the Resurrection; to be hopeful is to bear witness that even in Heaven, where He is followed by the martyrs He is as the Apocalypse tells us, wearing a "garment sprinkled with blood."

If Christ still bears His scars, if His robe is sprinkled with the blood of the missionaries in China, what does all this mean to you as you read this column? Will you not deny yourself something to share the fellowship with the wounded Christ in China, e.g. some bonds in the bank you do not need, some diamonds covered with dust in the vault, a luxury desired, a pleasure rejected, old gold—anything to bear witness.

GOD LOVE YOU to E. B. "I am in the 7th grade and wish to help all others that are suffering from cold or influenza. I am enclosing $2.00 for Missions." . . . GOD LOVE YOU to Anne, who promises to sacrifice $10 each month for the Holy Father's Missions. . . . GOD LOVE YOU to the 7th and 8th graders who held a cookie sale and sent $15 as their Christmas gift to a poor missionary. . . . GOD LOVE YOU to M. O'N. for $5. "I was going to save this money for a trip but I realize that spreading the Faith is a million times more important than a trip." . . . GOD LOVE YOU to G. C. "Since January 1953 I have saved all the Roosevelt dimes I received and this check of $10 represents the total. I am sending it to you to apply to the missions to use as you see fit."

Pray for the Missions of the world on a World Mission Rosary which we will send you at your request and a $2 offering to the Holy Father's Missions.

Cut out this column, pin your sacrifice to it and mail it to the Most Reverend Fulton J. Sheen, National Director of The Society for the Propagation of the Faith, 100 East 34th Street, New York 16, New York, or your Diocesan Director, Very Rev. Mgr. John S. Randall, 20 Chestnut Street, Rochester, New York.

African Students To Write Exchange Letters To U.S.

Cincinnati—(Special) Progress on an important current project of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade, correspondence with students in high schools of Africa, is reported by the Rev. Arthur Looby, C.S.B., mission director at Aquinas Institute, who is chairman of the CSMC high school committee for Africa.

The project, initiated by the 15th national CSMC convention in August, 1952, was delayed somewhat by the occurrence of the African school holiday during our autumn months, the seasons being reversed south of the Equator. As a result of the delay, Father Looby reports waiting list of several hundred American students who are anxious to establish contact by correspondence with fellow students in Africa. However, Father Looby reported last week to the national CSMC center in Cincinnati that the first trickle of letters is beginning to come from Africa.

THE LETTER EXCHANGE was proposed to the CSMC by missionaries with long experience in Africa, who saw in it a way to acquaint Africa's future Catholic leaders with the traditions of Christian democracy that prevail in the United States. The procedure followed is that each group of students in the U.S.A. desiring to correspond with Africa must obtain names and addresses of students in Africa from one of the two committees set up by the Crusade national center for this purpose. Besides the high school committee centered at Aquinas, there is a college committee centered at Mount Mary College in Milwaukee.

IN DIRECTIVES given by the committees, students participating in the Africa letter project are advised to write in a friendly way about things that would be of interest to students of their own age and scholastic level. "Don't give the impression," the students are warned, "that you think you are superior or that you are doing some great favor for your African friends by writing to them."

Among the high schools contacted by the CSMC national center in Africa are several conducted by the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, the Xaverian Brothers, the Holy Ghost Fathers, the White Fathers, and several sisterhoods with motherhouses in the United States.
