

12 YEARS IN WORLD AIR SALESMAN

Rochester Man Clothed In Trappist Monk Habit

George J. LeFrois Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. LeFrois, 55 Mayfield St., received the habit of a Trappist monk and his religious name on Thursday, Mar. 19. He will now be known as Frater M. Alphonsus.

The ceremony took place at Our Lady of the Genesee Monastery of Christ the King in Pittsford.

A former salesman, the 34-year-old novice entered the Trappist novitiate on Feb. 15. He will spend a two-year period in the monastery as a novice before taking first vows.

After the five years he will take final vows of poverty, chastity, obedience, conversion of manners and stability. The vow of conversion of manners is a final adoption of the way of life of the Cistercians which means that he will live under the rule of silence.

When a salesman, Frater Alphonsus handled several large accounts for the Ontario Liquor Distributors Inc. He decided to enter the Cistercian Order in 1949 when visiting the Our Lady of Gethsemani Trappist Monastery in Kentucky.

As a youth, former George LeFrois played football and baseball in St. Francis Xavier School in Boston. In his 13 years in business he especially enjoyed reading biographies of the saints.

Much of his spare time while in business was in the distribution of Monk's Bread made at the Monastery and sale of which helps in its support.

Frater Alphonsus has several relatives in religious life from the Rochester area.

Legislator Holds Parochial Schools No Longer Private

Augusta, Me.—(RNS)—Strictly speaking, parochial schools are no longer private schools, a Maine legislative committee was told here.

Rep. Henry Albert, Augusta, made this statement in supporting his bill to permit parochial pupils to ride public school buses on established routes.

Nearly a score of mothers of parochial school pupils appeared before the committee to favor the measure, while Protestant clergymen and laymen opposed it.

The Rev. Arthur G. Christopher, pastor of the Methodist church here, said he thought it was "a breach of the principle of separation of Church and State."

Notre Dame Trains European Workers South Bend, Ind.—(NC)—Forty skilled European workers have arrived here to begin a one-year work, study and training program designed to teach them American technical know-how, in addition to labor-management relations and give them an insight into American life.

The project in international relations is sponsored jointly by the University of Notre Dame, which will assume responsibility for the trainees during their year's stay, and the Mutual Security Agency with the cooperation of South Bend labor and management officials.

Father Phillip S. Moore, C.S.C., vice president in charge of academic affairs at the University, is chairman of a joint management-labor school committee which will oversee the project. Father Moore said Maurice P. Coher, a Notre Dame alumnus, who has been named project supervisor, has been granted a leave of absence by the Studebaker Corporation and Studebaker Local 5, UAW-CIO, to serve as counsellor to the trainees and liaison officer between the university, MSA officials, plants executives and union leaders.

Corning—Charles Klegler, 47, of 149 Baker St. died unexpectedly Tuesday, March 10. He was born in Corning, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Klegler. His marriage to Miss Stella Berry took place at St. Vincent de Paul's Church in 1933.

Besides his wife he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Klegler of Corning; one brother, Martin, of Chicago; one sister, Mrs. Ira Lagerbon of Corning; one aunt, one niece and one nephew; two uncles.

Funeral services were held from the A. W. Beilby and Son Funeral Home Friday at 8:30 a.m. and at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's Church. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery.
