CSMC Chooses An Aquinas Graduate For High Post

When Thomas Brown graduated from Aquinas Institute as Student Mission Leader in 1944, he little thought he would ever again have an active role in the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade. But last week in Washington, D. C. Thomas Brown, now a student for the priesthood with the Oblate Fathers, was chosen Vice President of the Catholic University Conference of Clerics and Religious of the C.S.M.C.

This Conference is comprised of the members of 28 different religious seminaries representing every phase of work in home and foreign missions.

The seminarians meet each month to discuss current problems in mission work and to offer suggestions that may help solve these practical questions that arise in the priesthood and brotherhood. It is the boast of the Conference that their former members are laboring not only in missions throughout the United States, but also from the Arctic to Brazil and from Japan to South Africa.

Mr. Brown

TO KEEP THE seminarians posted on current events, a lecture series is sponsored by the C.S.M.C. resembling the St. Thomas More series in Rochester.

This year's schedule including His Eminence Cardinal Spellman, Bishop John Wright of Worcester, Mass., Sir Arnold Lunn, Mr. Frank Sheed, noted publisher of Friendship House in New York City.

The Conference is particularly active in promoting vocations to the priesthood and brotherhood by means of its publication, the Guidepost, which contains pictures and information on every religious community for men in the United States.

A copy can be had by writing to Box 182, Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

Brother Brown, O.M.I., now taking his theological studies at the Oblate Scholasticate in the National Capital, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Brown of St. Thomas parish in Irondequoit.

Another son, Father Bernard Brown, O.M.I., is laboring with the Oblates of Mary Immaculate among the Indians and Eskimos of the Canadian Arctic.
