Can anybody trust you more than you trust yourself? Customer of ours brought up the question. Said he was afraid of personal losses—so many things might happen. What about death before the loss is paid off... and my family is stuck with a debt? We said: You borrow money at Union Trust without any risk—the borrower's life is insured, so the loan is paid up in case of death. The customer thought it over, and said he would be more than willing to trust us more than he'd trusted himself. And then he walked out with a loan. Moral: so you see, come in for it now. Here are a few examples of our low rates:

Only 1949 to 1953 stock passenger cars will be permitted to enter the test which features a $4,000 purse with $1,000 going to the winner. A record-breaking crowd of western New York automobile enthusiasts is expected to pack the stands for time trials which begin at 7 p.m. Last year a crowd estimated by track officials at more than 6,500 watched Tim Flock, brilliant Atlanta, Ga. chauffeur, grab the checkered flag.
