Death Of A Bishop

The death of Most Reverend John J. Boylan, Bishop of Rockford, brings sorrow not only to his diocesans but to his many friends here in the Diocese of Rochester. He made his course for the Priesthood at St. Bernard's Seminary and was ordained in 1915.

For twenty years he was in educational work as the President of Dowling College. He was consecrated Bishop of Rockford in 1943, succeeding Bishop Hoban.

In ten years of administration of the Rockford Diocese he has carried on an active campaign for the development of religion in general and particularly for the advancement of Catholic education. His death will come as a shock to the many Priests of the Rochester Diocese who were associated with him during his course at St. Bernard's Seminary.

We pray for the soul of our departed friend and Bishop while we rejoice in the good things that the Lord has allowed him to accomplish as Bishop of His Church. May his soul rest in peace!

Good St. Anne

Large indeed is the number of Catholics in every part of the world who show devotion to St. Anne at all times but give a very prayerful observance to her Feast which falls next Sunday.

For people in this section the devotion to St. Anne is traditionally connected with her shrine at Beaupre in Quebec. Year after year thousands of people have visited the shrine and venerated the relic of St. Anne which is preserved there.

Many graces and blessings of a spiritual order have come to those who have prayed to St. Anne at her Shrine and each year has recorded a series of miracles in the physical order. Miraculous cures have happened from time to time and have increased the veneration of our people for the grandmother of Our Lord and the Mother of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

The reaction of her millions of clients to the great good that she has done is registered permanently in the name by which they have called her "Good St. Anne."

May St. Anne continue to bless and sanctify all who turn to her for help. May our prayers go up to her not only for material benefits but also for all the spiritual graces which are so superior in the eyes of Our Lord and the effects of which never pass away.

The effects of even the most startling cure can last only till the end of the life of the one so blessed, but the effects of the spiritual blessings that have come to so many millions will remain through life and be carried on into eternity. Many indeed will come to everlasting life through the special graces [illegible] by Good St. Anne.

[illegible] By The Sword

[illegible] one of the crimes that cry to Heaven for [illegible]. When a man takes the sword in a career that is devoted to murder in its worse form there is every reason to feel that he will perish by the sword. In all Russia today there is none to drop a tear nor express a regret at the downfall of Beria. Whether death has already claimed him or will come to him in connection with the present purge, all will agree that he is suffering the same fate that he so gladly imposed upon thousands of others.

Just how long the disgraceful condition that has afflicted Russia and its satellite countries for all these years shall continue no man can say, but all of us can feel that the God of Justice will not permit the exploitation and robbery and murder and irreligion that have marked these countries [illegible]

[illegible] out of the picture, so other officials of the Dictator regime will have their day. It is time for us to pray that the joys of freedom and the enjoyment of the [illegible] given to His children here on earth will be made available for Russia and for all the countries now under the heel.

Men At Work

It is a real satisfaction for Catholics of this Diocese to [illegible] of the work of our architects and artisans in [illegible] High Schools in Rochester, Auburn and El[illegible]. They allow day stone by stone being laid upon stone and brick [illegible] and High Schools for all the days to come more [illegible] to their pupils.

[illegible] to view the work of building that [illegible] it will surely bring to everyone who is giv[illegible] an opportunity to rejoice in an effort [illegible] accomplished.

[illegible] and the pursuit of happiness belong to us as [illegible] of God and citizens of America. Our life, our liberty [illegible] and [illegible] these treasures which come with [illegible] of [illegible] gifts material form in these [illegible]
