WHAT'S DOING AT THE DALYS' From Ginny's Point Of View

By Mary Tinkley Daly

If "position is everything in life" if your position is that of the seventh child, separated by six years from the next oldest, if you are seven years old...

Like hanging around when your sisters have dates, making out that you're going to tell who they had a date with last night, till they promise to make you up for a week if you shut up.

Like bragging to the other kids on the block that you're an aunt and they're only big brothers and sisters.

Those times it's nice to be "the baby." Other times, it isn't. Like when Mom says Mary's got to take you to the movies with her gang of girls and then you make you walk half a block in back of 'em so you won't hear what they're talking about.

AT DINNER, everybody remembers some "project" that was knocked into a cocked hat by some misunderstanding soul. And they all feel awful sorry for you.

THEY DON'T appreciate you, either. Wonder if any of them could do cartwheels the whole length of the back yard? Then after you've practiced for weeks, you get so's you can stick your left arm under your shoulder blades and do single arm cartwheels.

Position is everything! Georgetown University Washington (NC) — Expansion of the medical center area at Georgetown University will take place in the fall when construction on the university's new $1,350,000 school of nursing building will be started.

Lois Spurling Wed At St. Helen's

By Mary Tinkley Daly

Lois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin J. Spurling, Timpat Drive, and Gerald Forward, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. F. Forward, Presque Ste, were married on Aug. 1 in St. Helen's Church, Rochester.

The Rev. J. Beecher Sullivan, pastor, officiated at the wedding ceremony.

Mrs. Sylvester J. Sowinski, Mrs. Forward, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were: Mrs. James R. Spurling, Mrs. Edward W. Spurling and Mrs. Charles M. Spurling of Painted Post.

Flower girl was Margaret Mary Sowinski and Timothy Forward was ring bearer.

John E. Forward of Albuquerque, N.M., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were: David Forward, Thomas O'Rourke and Robert Dugan.

Among Women

Reading For Armed Forces

The plan of supplying Catholic publications, magazines and newspapers, to men and women in the Armed Services is not a new one. But the present program — of helping to provide for the military, both men and women, Catholic periodicals and papers. There is no better way to keep the Catholic mind alert, and conscience right, than through good reading.

Either one parish organization or a combination of many might be a spark plug. The point is that every parish should be most eager to carry its influence to its parishioners temporarily beyond the parish boundaries, to all in its flock.

ALTHOUGH THERE are many obvious difficulties the project has the powerful support of the National Council of Catholic Men, of the National Council of Catholic Women, the encouragement of the Military Ordinate, which is in charge of the religious welfare of Catholics in the Armed Services, and of the Catholic Press Association.

The president of the CPA, the Rev. Thomas A. Meehan, editor of "The New World," Chicago, has called the project "excellent" and has pledged his "earnest approval and fullest cooperation."

In a joint appeal to the thousands of their affiliated organizations, Mrs. William H. Daiton of Augusta, Me., President of the N.C.C.W. and Francis I. Nally of Toledo, O., President of the N.C.C.M. have stated:

"CERTAINLY parish organizations throughout the country should rally to this worth while program — of helping to provide for the military, both men and women, Catholic periodicals and papers. There is no better way to keep the Catholic mind alert, and conscience right, than through good reading.
