Chinese Priest
Preaches Faith
To Chain Gang

Hong Kong — (RNS)—A Chinese Catholic priest sentenced to forced labor with a chain gang in South China by Communist officials is conducting "one of the strangest catechism classes in the world," according to a report received at Maryknoll headquarters here.

The report said the priest has converted and baptized 12 fellow members of the gang. Indoctrination, it said, was conducted while the gang worked barefooted and chained together and shielded from the hot sun only by wide-brimmed bamboo hats.

Maryknoll officials said their last foreign missionary in the priest's diocese (the name of which they prefer not to disclose) was expelled more than a year ago, leaving only 13 native priests to care for its faithful. Five of the 13 are in prison.
