Horror Film At Dryden Scheduled For Weekend

The most celebrated motion picture to utilize expressionism in its exposition, "The Cabinet Of Dr. Caligari," will be shown at the Dryden Theatre this weekend.

Prototype of all horror pictures, "The Cabinet Of Dr. Caligari" was filmed in Germany in 1919 and stars Conrad Veidt, Lil Dagover, and Werner Krauss.

A number of scenes which were missing in the print have recently been discovered and restored to the film, making this showing actually a premiere performance of the most famous and controversial motion picture ever made.

"The Cabinet Of Dr. Caligari" focused the attention of the entire art world on motion pictures and was a part of the whole German Gothic school in films. It differed from contemporary films in its expressionistic treatment.

It will be shown Saturday at 3:30 p.m. and on Sunday at 2:30 and 4:30 p.m.

NEW And NOW

By ROBERT SMETT

World premiere of "Solomon Grundy", a new musical comedy by Mike Stewart and Shelley Mowell at Arena Theatre, Hoeltzer St., running through Aug. 22.

The sunniest, singingest package of fun and fantasy seen around these parts in a long time is "Solomon Grundy," thanks to Messrs. Stewart and Mowell, who did the book and music respectively.

R. Smett

The week-long life of nursery-rhyme Solomon, though a simple theme, proves to be strong enough to make a tidy, rounded plot and forms a setting for a score of terrific tunes.

When Peter Howard, who directed the whole score of the show, sits at the piano, there's a whole orchestra in it. A fine musician, with the added talent of acute musical comedy sense, his accompaniment is a treat in itself.

KENNETH NELSON, who has an outstandingly fine voice, is completely engaging as Solomon. His personality and stage charm hand him the audience immediately. Very rarely off stage, he sings, dances and acts with that right balance of vitality that makes comedy musical.

Especially fine we thought was his rendering of "Only If It's Love" (one of the best in the show) and "Off Where The Grass Is Greener," which deserves a bow for lyrics.

Of all the stars, Virginia Bradley as Iris Swan, shone brightest for this reviewer. A little girl who never misses a trick, she has, besides a beautiful voice, an exciting and easy stage presence. Her singing of "Passe", theme of the erstwhile femme fatale, was tops.

DOROTHY GREENER as the Angel is a show stopper. Blessed with good dialogue and a panic-inducing style of comedy, her tumbler - breaking soprano is heard too infrequently.

A flamboyant and brassy singer, Mildred Cook is another standout. Her work in "Why Do We Have To Fall In Love?" and a finely-staged patter number, "Popularity", showed off her professional grace and well-timed comedy. She suffered a bit from a limping script in her first scene.

Ed Horner's "I'd Like To Do Things For You" is another of the finer numbers in the show. He has a very pleasing voice he was most pleasing when singing.

In a really mad production number, "You Captured My Heart," James Harwood came into his own, doing a tremendous piece of comedy satire.

Kathleen Kerr then took over offering one of the two funniest sequences in the show, the other being Miss Greener's floor-rocking job in "Mesopatamia."

A PRODUCTION number called "Confusion", the reprise of which opens the second act, was completely surprising. Seemingly as smooth as could be, it was amazing that such broad-scale work, which included a really smart ballet, could be attempted in the arena medium.

Nancy Brougham was completely captivating as Mary, and Edward Beach, who sings too and well, offered some fine touches.

Front and center, Edward Ivory, George La Buda and John Alberts for coming through with flying colors in a rat-race of ensemble work. To them, and to the young ladies of the chorus, Barbara Hamell, Kathleen Carlola and to Lucy Hope Lyon as Mrs. Burton, deserves credit for keeping things moving, bouncing and at times delightfully out of hand.

Glee Cruser, an Arena apprentice, culminates her first summer of stock with another excellent performance. Throughout the summer, Miss Cruser has checked off one piece of fine work after another. She would be a most competent permanent addition to any stock company.

SONIA LOWENSTEIN, designer for the new musical, deserves all around applause for a completely tasteful and exciting set. Nothing lacked in color or line to take away from the all over fantasy pattern, and it stayed practical — terrific job.

Marcelline Newell squeezed out a rainbow and matched the set pieces with costumes that were always eye-catching.

Finally, Mr. Stewart, congratulations on a rip-roaring show and a superlative job of direction. I don't know if it is Broadway stuff. I don't know how it would go over with the visiting firemen. I do know that I have spent $6.60 for many an evening in the theatre that was not half the fun of "Solomon Grundy." I do know that I want to see it again!

Miss Jane McCready Recreation Leader Leaves For Germany

Geneva—Miss Jane McCready, daughter of Mrs. Katherine R. McCready, 25 Genesee St., and the late Charles J. McCready, will sail soon for Nurnberg, Germany, where she will be a recreational leader in an Army service club.

Miss McCready went from Geneva to Fort Hamilton last week on the first lap of her journey.

A graduate of De Sales High School and Geneseo State Teachers College, she has taught at Cato, Meridian Central School at Cato, and the New York State School for the Blind at Batavia.

Gene Lockhart, well-known Catholic actor of stage and screen, has been appearing this week in "On Borrowed Time" at Famous Artists Country Playhouse, East Rochester. Performances will continue through Sunday evening.

Drama Needed Says Fr. Hartke, Theatre Priest

Detroit —(NC)— Man needs drama for entertainment and for guidance in the turmoil of life, a priest-pioneer in theatrical work said here.

Father Gilbert V. Hartke, O.P., director of the speech and drama department of the Catholic University of America, Washington, addressed 600 men at the luncheon meeting of Detroit's First Friday club.

He said the practical value of drama for everyday living was demonstrated by the trip of Players, Inc.—a Catholic University graduate dramatic group—to the Korean front at the request of President Truman.

Their presentation of high class drama, plays of Shakespeare, drew large attendances of GI's from the bunkers and others just back from the battlefield.

"DRAMA," said Fr. Hartke, "is the story of man as he works and lives. When based on sound Christian principle it is true art and reflects true beauty."

Reviewing the development of the drama department of Catholic University, Fr Hartke told how persons of talent on the radio and stage volunteered for its faculty. He stated that it now does five major plays a year. Each is given 16 times. Yearly audiences total nearly 50,000 persons. The department was among the first to do religious plays on radio networks and also on television he added.

Xavier University Head Honored In Scotland

Antigonish, N. S. — (NC) — Father P. J. Nicholson, president of St. Francis Xavier University, has received an honorary Doctors of Laws degree at Aberdeen University in Scotland. Lauded for "his contribution to the maintenance of Scottish civilization in the new world," Father Nicholson received the degree from the Dean of the university's Faculty of Law.

Horace Heidt and his "Americas Way" cast are currently in Korea to entertain and audition GIs for three transpacific broadcasts of their CBS Radio series in August (heard in the Rochester area over WHEC).

Attractions To Mark Opening Monroe County Fair, Aug. 18

Attractions ranging from livestock to the "torpedobile" are on the program for the Monroe County Fair Aug. 18 to 22.

The fairgrounds is at East Henrietta and Calkins Roads.

The livestock will be part of the dairy exhibits to be judged by Wilcot Stewart of the Cornell University animal husbandry department. Stewart will also be official judge for a showmanship and cattle judging contests on 4-H Day, Wednesday, Aug. 19.

The "torpedobile", a vehicle shot from a cannon, is a feature of Irish Horan's Thrill Drivers, who will perform August 18 and 19 in front of the grandstand.

Other acts in front of the grandstand will be Klein's Attractions, featuring circus aerial, animal and comedy acts: Fran Flagg's Western Horse Show, Aug. 22 only; a six pony hitch every day, fireworks and various farm demonstrations. Grandstand shows are at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. daily.

THE FAIR WILL begin officially at 5:30 p.m. Aug. 18 when the Monroe County Harvest Queen and her court will be introduced in front of the grandstand.

They will be escorted in a motorcade to the fairgrounds from the Courthouse by supervisors and other county and city officials. A dinner on the grounds is scheduled.

Although the official opening is for 5:30 p.m., the doors will be actually open at 1 p.m. Tuesday. The afternoon grandstand show will include Klein acts and a tractor pull. Horan's Drivers and fireworks will be added to the night's display.

For Wednesday afternoon a Civil Defense exhibit, a flower show and Klein acts are scheduled. The Klein acts and Horan drivers are scheduled for the evening.

ON THURSDAY afternoon the display will include a tractor demonstration and the Klein acts. Evening events will be the complete Klein show and fireworks.

An irrigation display and farm demonstration will be added to the circus acts Friday afternoon. Ed Otto's stock car races and the Klein acts will be the evening star.

The Western horse show, JoJo the clown, and other acts are scheduled for Saturday, Children's Day. The complete Klein show and fireworks are planned for the evening.
