

Liturgical Group Make Plans For New Hymnal

Grand Rapids, Mich. (AP)—A national hymnal for Catholics is in process of completion. It was disclosed to the 14th National Liturgical Conference here.

Plans for the hymnal were revealed by the Rev. Richard Ginder, composer, critic and writer, and the only priest who is a Fellow of the American Guild of Organists. Father Ginder, who is assistant pastor of St. George's church, Pittsburgh, is editor of "The Priest" and "The Catholic Choralmaster."

The new hymnal, he said, is the answer to some of the "undesirable" types of hymns currently popular. It will help eliminate "a lot of third-rate trash which is marked by bad verse and worse tunes," he said. Father Ginder said the hymnal's approval by the hierarchy is pending.

SOME OF THE hymns currently in use, the priest-composer said, "almost literally came into the American Church through the back door, hawked from house to house by peddlers."

"The ply of it," he continued, "is that we have a store of superb hymns available—hymns being used by the Protestants right now."

Father Ginder said that the Protestant Episcopal Hymnal lists 33 hymns written by Catholic saints and that the Methodists and Presbyterians are doing much the same.

A committee of nine are working on the national Catholic hymnal, the priest-composer said. One of the temporary chairmen is Father John Seines, S.S., of Baltimore, Md., president of the St. Gregory Society of America. The committee envisions a small book, "perhaps the size of a catechism," he said.

FATHER GINDER of the committee, according to Father Ginder, is to prepare a hymnal "to serve Catholic congregations and parochial school children for special occasions such as First Communion, Confirmation, Jubilee, Holy Week (non-liturgical services) and the like."

He estimated that the first hymnal would contain 300 titles with more in later editions. Father Ginder said the hymns are being collected through a series of surveys sent out to about 100 parishes. Presently, he added, the hymnal will be published by the Community of Christian Doctrine.

Squirrel monkeys from the Upper Amazon region in South America were the new attraction in the "Wild Section" of the Hall of Natural History on the first floor of the Rochester Museum of Art and Science.

The monkeys, according to Dr. Edward T. Bourne, assistant director and curator of natural sciences, had on intimate-picked-uply grandparents.

500 Men Bid Fr. Aylward Farewell At Retreat House

More than 500 priests and laymen, friends of the Very Rev. Augustine J. Aylward, C.S.S.R., rector of the Notre Dame Retreat House gathered on Tuesday night at 246 Alexander St. to bid him Godspeed.

Father Aylward is leaving the Diocese of Rochester after eight years spent in promoting lay retreats at the retreat house in Geneva and later at the Notre Dame House which he had a large part in remodeling and making into the suitable institution it is for lay retreats.

HE WAS TO leave this week for his post as rector of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Brooklyn, having one of the largest congregations of any church in the U.S. after conferring with his successor, Rev. Francis Kenny, C.S.S.R., coming from Saratoga Springs. The reception was continuous Tuesday with fellow priests and laymen from all points in the diocese coming to express thanks to the retreat director and preacher who was known throughout the United States in the retreat movement. In his work in this diocese he had visited practically every parish.

Fleming Altar Boy First To Be Buried From Chapel

Fleming — The first funeral Mass to be offered in the Chapel of St. Isaac Jogues, Fleming, was celebrated on Friday, August 14, for Bernard Barry, eleven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Barry of Fleming.

Bernard was killed in a tragic accident near his home on Tuesday, August 11, 1953. He died as the result of skull and chest injuries sustained when a trailer truck collided with the bicycle he was riding.

His thirteen-year-old brother, John, was also seriously hurt in the same accident and is still in Mercy Hospital, Auburn. His condition, however, is reported to be "satisfactory."

Bernard Barry was one of the two official altar boys at the Chapel in Fleming. Together with his brother, John, he served the 10 o'clock Mass there each Sunday and, at no little sacrifice to himself, was invariably faithful in weekly Communion and Confession. His death, though sudden, was in no way unexpected. And in his final moments of consciousness, he repeated the names of Jesus, Mary, and Joseph and asked, anxiously, that his chosen vocation not be removed.

THE CROWDED Chapel on the morning of the funeral was a fitting witness to the affection and admiration felt for the boy by all the parishioners. The Mass function was celebrated by Father Joachim J. Snyder, a Carmelite from Whitefish in Auburn.

He was assisted by Father Thomas E. McGinnis, another Carmelite. In the sanctuary were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William E. Quinn, pastor of St. Mary's in Auburn; the Rev. William D. Toth, pastor of St. Bernard's in SoHo Center and of St. Isaac Jogues Chapel in Fleming; and the Rev. Robert J. Downes of St. Mary's in Auburn. Interment was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Auburn.

Nehru Backed In Cold War

Washington—The Indian people are behind Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru in his attempts to take a neutral position in the diplomatic struggle between the Communist countries and the west.

This point was made here by self-spoken Thomas H. Pothacumary of Bangalore, secretary of the Catholic Bishops' Conference of India. The 53-year-old prelate, whose quiet composure radiates the calm and peace of the Orient, was interviewed here during his tour in the U.S.

Bishop Pothacumary noted that there is "a great deal of misapprehension" among Americans regarding the "neutralist position" taken by the Indian government in the communist-Western conflict.

He set down these reasons as motivating Premier Nehru and the Indian people in their neutral stand:

"While India does not approve of the aggressive policy of Communist countries, their persecution of religion, their totalitarian and tyrannical methods and their suppression of human rights and liberties," the Indian Bishop said, "our Prime Minister does not wish to interfere with the internal affairs of other countries."

Historic Old Church In Lisbon Restored To Jesuit Order

Lisbon, Portugal—(AP)—St. Roque's church, one of Lisbon's most beautiful Catholic shrines, which belonged to the Society of Jesus until the expulsion of the Jesuits by the Marquis of Pombal in the 18th century has been returned to the Society.

Restoration of the church to the Jesuits was announced in an order issued by His Eminence Manuel Cardinal Goncalves Cerejera, Patriarch of Lisbon. Because there is no residence attached to the church, Jesuit priests in charge will live in a private house nearby.

Fire Destroys Church Lakevale, N.S.—(AP)—Fire of unknown origin destroyed historic St. Columba's Church here with a loss of $40,000. Parts of the church dated back 100 years.
