So, entertainment, even for a child, can mean work. "Labors of love" maybe, but work. What is true of a child is certainly true of an adult, is certainly true of any reasoning person, be he six or eighty-six, for we never stop learning and therefore we are never without the opportunity of at least being "exposed to knowing something", as Sister Raphael used to say at Aquinas.

SO, IT DOESN'T have to be all silly laughs, it doesn't have to be hilarity, sense of humor. You know the Greeks had words for it (and what didn't they have a word for).
