Melodrama Opens At Fisher College

Final arrangements are now complete for the third dramatic endeavor of the Roff Guild of St. John Fisher College. The director, the Rev. Adelore Houde, Ph.D., has chosen the old-fashioned melodrama, Only An Orphan Girl, a "soul stirring drama of human trials and tribulations."

It will be presented Dec. 4, 5, 11 and 12 at the college beginning at 8:15 p.m.

To stimulate the original atmosphere of the old-time melodrama it will be presented in tavern style, which promises to be a new experience for many area theater goers.

THE PRESENTATION includes music, dances and refreshments, all of which give the production an aura of informality and invites the audience to participate in the fun.

The villain will be played by Richard Cappon, a sophomore at St. John Fisher College, who has had a great deal of experience in high school and college productions.

John Pettigrass, a freshman from Auburn, N.Y., plays the hero and Mary Jean Hodson of Nazareth College will be seen as the heroine.

Among the cast is Michael Casella, sophomore, who will be remembered for his performance as McLeod in last year's Roff Guild presentation of Detective Story. He shows his versatility by playing the rock-ribbed New England farmer.

Lois Sweet, senior at Nazareth College, is directing the dancing for the Roff Theater production. She has participated in many college productions and directed the dancing for the women's college SRO musical last year.

In "Only An Orphan Girl," she directs the chorus in a "Can Can" dance and the duo, Mary Lou Devia and Robert Mason, in a Gay 90s dance.

ROBERT MASON, St. John Fisher College freshman and a veteran of the dance, having studied for 13 years under Miss Gladys Bliss, is well known in Rochester theatrical circles.

He has appeared in many Aquinas productions and in parish theatricals at St. Boniface, Holy Family and St. Ambrose. His most recent appearance was in the St. Boniface presentation of "Golden Haze."

Mason is the freshman representative at the men's college on the Intermural Sports Committee and a member of the Intermural Basketball team.

ENTR'ACTE entertainment includes group singing, dances staged by Lois Sweet of Nazareth College and music provided by the orchestra under the direction of Ronald Boden, sophomore. Incidental piano music will be played by Don Pickens, freshman.

All feminine roles have been taken by students of Nazareth College.

'ONLY AN ORPHAN GIRL'

'Mr. Barry's Etchings'

Aquinas Spotlight Club Sets Comedy For Opener

A barn re-modeled on artistic lines by an eccentric and thoroughly unpredictable artist forms the setting for The Aquinas Spotlight Club's opening offering of the season, "Mr. Barry's Etchings," set for Thursday and Friday, Dec. 10 and 11, in the school auditorium.

Leading parts in this story of "amateur" counterfeiters are being handled by Dave Bertsch and Patricia Doyle.

All girls in the production are members of the Spotlight Club chosen from Mercy High School.

PLOT INTEREST involves a pair of fantastic underworld characters played by Patricia Fox and Jerry Gariff while romantic interest and the side of the law are provided by Carol History, Dan O'Mara and Kay Sullivan.

Efforts to keep the zany comedy on a common-sense level are made by Maureen O5Brien and John Foley.

SOPHOMORES appearing in the play include Mike Belanger, Tom Lynch and Steve Chechak, Charles Marang, Joe McDonald and Dave Kirby assist in bringing the comedy to the conventional happy ending.

Curtain time has been set at 8:15 p.m. according to Bill White, assistant-director.

Booklet Refutes Historical Fallacies Of Luther Movie

Huntington, Ind. — (NC) — "The more and the longer we preach, the worse matters grow."

That is Martin Luther speaking about his own followers, as he is quoted in a 30-page booklet published by the Our Sunday Visitor Press to correct false impressions given by the film "Martin Luther".

THE FILM which has been hailed artistically by critics is called "unhistorical, unbiblical and unfair" by Lon Francis, columnist-author of the pamphlet.

Called "The Martin Luther Motion Picture," the booklet is a historical study of Luther's times and of Luther himself as taken from his own writings. It explains the Catholic Church's teaching on such things as relics and indulgences.

"We are not interested in smearing, but only in proving what is true history, even as taught by those who had no reason whatsoever to defend the Catholic Church," the author stated in an introduction.

Quotations from Protestant historians are used to give a true picture of Luther and the Reformation as opposed to the idealized version presented in the film.

QUOTING FROM Luther's work, Mr. Francis recorded the following statement written by Luther himself:

"Avarice, usury, debauchery, drunkenness, blasphemy, lying and cheating are for more prevalent now than they were under the Papacy." From his wrtings, the pamphlet says, Luther himself admitted that the Reformation failed.

In Luther's time "there were widespread abuses and a laxity of morals in Germany and even in Rome, not only in low but in high places," the booklet admits. "If Luther had confined his crusade to an attempt to eliminate those abuses and that moral laxity, he would be commended even more by Catholics than by non-Catholics."

THE BOOKLET was prompted by inquiries coming to Our Sunday Visitor concerning the historcal accuracy of the film "Martin Luther...

"What is not historical," Mr. Francis wrote, "is the impression the picture would chiefly seem to convey, namely, that the Catholic Church occupied herself throughout the preceding centuries chiefly with the selling of indulgences and worshipping relics, that her people, therefore, must have been gullible, superstitious, and even fools.

"Those whose minds had not already been prejudiced must read more anti-Catholicism than pro-Lutheranism into the picture."
