week in the Courier-Journal's annual subscription campaign, bolstered hopes that this diocesan weekly's bid for a new circulation record may be achieved.

Supporting these hopes was the adopttion by Holy Cross Parish, Rochester, of 100 per cent family subscription coverage. The Rev. Joseph J. O'Connell, paster of Holy Cross, has reported for his parish a total of 800 subscriptions which is an approximate gain of over 500 new subscriptions over last year.

ANOTHER significant gain was reported this week by the Rev. J. Beecher Sullivan, pastor of St. Helen's Church, Rochester, where the 100 per cent plan has been in effect for a number of years. According to Father Sullivan, St. Helen's Parish will have 490 subscriptions in the coming year. This is a gain of 100 over last year's figure of
