Carmelite Fathers Await Bids On New High School

Auburn — The Carmelite Fathers have just authorized Beardsley and Beardsley, Architects to obtain bids on the proposed new Mount Carmel High School at the earliest possible date.

Separate bids will be received in a manner similar to that of public bidding, including separate bids for General Construction, Plumbing, Heating and Ventilating and Electric.

It is anticipated that many local contractors will be interested in the project, and that bids will be received within the current budget amounts so that work may proceed at an early date. Plans will be available from the architects' office within a very few days, and bids will be received early in April.

THE DRAWING printed above illustrates certain features of the building and the general floor plan not previously published for newspaper readers.

The gymnasium and cafeteria areas will be located on the far east portion of the school with such classrooms as libraries, science rooms, offices located in the central portion, and the classroom wing on the right. The building will be fully fireproof.

In a special appeal read recently in the Catholic churches of Auburn, Bishop James E. Kearney stressed the importance of bringing pledge payments up to date and thanked all who, by honoring their pledges, enabled the work to proceed.

It is anticipated that construction of the school during this year may encourage the development of the entire residential district in the southern portion of the city.

Ladies Of Charity List Mass On Patronal Feast

Ladies of Charity of Elmira will mark their 14th annual observance of the feast of their Co-Patron, St. Louise de Marillac on Sunday, March 21, at Mass. The ceremony will be held in the Little Flower Chapel of the Dunn Memorial at 9:00 a.m.

Following the services at the Chapel, a Communion Breakfast will be held at the Mark Twain Hotel at 10:00 a.m. Principal speaker at the breakfast will be the Rev. Joseph M. Egan, S.T.D., Professor of Dogmatic Theology at St. Bernard's Seminary in Rochester. Father Egan is an alumnus of St. Andrew's and St. Bernard's Seminaries and was studying at the American College in Rome when the war forced his return to this country. He also attended Mundelein Seminary in Chicago where he received his Doctorate Degree.

THE ELMIRA observance of the feast of St. Louise falls on Lenten Sunday or mid-Lent, which is the halting place in the midst of the Church's Lenten observance. Rose vestments are worn by the priest and flowers will be used on the Altars which are not decorated during the Lenten season, except on special feast days.

Iris and violets will decorate the windows of the local florists shops for several days before the observance of the feast and the idea of Charity and their defense will wear the flowers at the observance in honor of a Miracle at the tomb of St. Louise.

The Miracle took place on an occasion when several people were praying at the Saint's tomb when a cloud arose, giving off a perfume like iris and violets and those present carried the fragrance away on their clothing. Nearly 300 years later, when St. Louise's body was removed to its final resting place, this fragrance was still present in the tomb.

Chairman is Mrs. William Hovey. All Ladies of Charity and prospective affiliates are invited and tickets for the breakfast may be obtained from any member of the Committee.

The ceremony this year, differ from those of former years in that the annual affiliation ceremony which is usually held in conjunction with the observance of the feast, has been deferred until a later date.
