Where Ignorance Is Bliss

As a rule, the man who thinks his wife doesn't understand him, would be out of luck if she did.

Student Nurses Have Special Vocation, Monsignor Brien Says At Capping Rites

Forty-three students, who entered St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing, Elmira last September, received their caps Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Little Flower Chapel of the Nurses' Residence. The class includes 22 Elmiraans.

Rev. Magr. William J. Brien, V.E. presided at the impressive ceremony, blessed the caps, and gave the address. The class was presented by Rev. Philip E. McGhan, Hospital Chaplain. The students received their caps from Sister Margaret Adelaide, Hospital Administrator, and Sister Anne Maurice, Director of Nursing. About 450 relatives and friends of the class attended.

At the bedside of the dying, the nurse may be there whispering the name of Jesus into the ear of the departing one, when even the relatives or priest may not be present. The worldly remuneration should not be the first consideration of the nurse. Many times, too, Monsignor Brien said, the patient may not appreciate what the nurse does for him, but charity is its own reward. If the nurse is not rewarded in this world she will be in the next.
