An Easter Vacation In Retrospect

By MARY E. FITZGERALD

Executive Director — Catholic Family Service

The week is almost over and Monday morning will find your Teenager back at her studies. What was her vacation like? Could Father Keller have used some part of it, as a high light for what he labels as one of his most important moves, titled "Teen-Agers—The Hope of Tomorrow?"

Father Keller with his usual sound philosophy and his honest presentation of facts, has decided to deal "in a positive way, with the problem of overcoming juvenile delinquency." In his most recent message, which was in the mail during Holy Week, he quotes a professor from a New York University on the subject of playgrounds.

He might well go on an enlarge the emphasis upon recreation outside the home. He might indeed deplore the ever increasing concentration on leisure time activities for Teen-agers and others.

Fitting indeed, and effective, would be a lax supported or a community chest agency devoted to promoting recreation for
