Rededication Held At Mount Carmel School

His Excellency Bishop Kearney officiated at ceremonies marking the official reopening of the Mt. Carmel School, on Sunday, June 13. The Bishop blessed the building and hung the crucifix over the entrance to the first floor.

Assisting Bishop Kearney were the Very Rev. Msgr. John E. Maney, the Reverend Fathers Charles J. Azzi, pastor, Genaro Ventura, Frank Wolk, Richard Orlando, Francis Vogt, Joseph Natale, and Frederick Elsemann. The Knights of St. John and altar boys of the parish completed the Bishop's escort.

In the hall, after the blessing, the Bishop praised the pastor and people of Mt. Carmel for their spirit and commended the rapid solution to the problem of restoring the school. Also Bishop Kearney urged continued support of the pastor, so that the results of the successful campaign could be realized.

Many surprises greeted the visitors and people of the parish in their tours of inspection. Most people remembered the remodeled school of two years ago. The memory of the fire of November 2, 1953 still remained vivid. Fire and water had caused the reconstruction of the whole inside.

Decorators tried to effect a harmonious color scheme throughout the entire building. Two different matching colors were selected for each room. The heating system was revamped; a new boiler and convectors were installed. An air circulator to draw in fresh air was placed in each room. Then too, each Sister may

Captain Kane's Brother Officiates At Requiem Mass

Genova—More than 15 Genova priests attended or helped officiate Saturday, June 12, the final rites for Capt. Daniel G. Kane, 42, U.S. Army retired. Full military honors were accorded.

The funeral services were held from the family home, 228 Hamilton St., and in St. Stephen's Church.

Capt. Kane was the brother of the Rev. Thomas C. Kane who celebrated the Solemn Requiem Mass. He was assisted by the Rev. Raymond P. Nolan, deacon, and the Rev. Joseph Hogan, subdeacon.

Present in the sanctuary were the Reverend Fathers Edward K. Bell, Bernard Newcomb, Joseph Hogan, George Doud, Walter Carron, William Schifferl, Daniel Lynch, John O'Brien, Edward Christoph, William Hickey, John V. Loughlin, John Duffy, Joseph Beath, William Galmer, John Walsh, Vincent Collins and James Collins, both cousins.

Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery with Father Vincent Collins officiating at the grave. The bearers were Robert Nolan, William Rogan, Martin Lawlor, Frederick Toole, John Hennessy and Donald Eades.

MILITARY HONORS were accorded by a firing detail from Winnek Post, American Legion, headed by Clifford Bell, bugler, and Vernon Trochesset. The squad included Joseph Hargrove, Thomas Carone, James Buckley, Kenneth Morrissy, Paul Cooper and Harold Legg.

A VETERAN of the South Pacific campaign of World War II, he took part in battles of the entire campaign, participated in the capture of Manila, and was captain of his company when they went into the city.

He served in Honolulu and Hawaii for three years and returned to the states in 1932 and had asked for a European assignment. Although in falling health, he was shipped to Korea where he remained only 14 days when his physical condition became so
