Basilians Study Reuniting With French Order

The Very Rev. George B. Flahiff, C.S.B., has been named superior general of the Basilian Fathers, religious community of men who staff Rochester's Aquinas Institute and St. John Fisher College, at a general chapter meeting in Toronto, where plans were discussed for reuniting with the order's mother community in France.

The general chapter is composed of delegates from all houses of the community. Father Flahiff, who has been superior of the Pontifical Institute of Mediaeval Studies in Toronto for the past six years, was born in Trent, Ont. He graduated from St. Michael's College and entered the Congregation of St. Basil in 1926. After ordination in 1930, he went to France for graduate study and obtained his Diploma from the Ecole de Chartes.

ON HIS RETURN to Canada, he joined the staff of the Mediaeval Institute and the Graduate School of the University of Toronto. Father Flahiff succeeds the Very Rev. E. J. McCorkell, C.S.B., as superior general of the Basilian Fathers.

At the week long meeting, which elected members of a general council to serve for six years as well as a new superior general, delegates discussed the possibility of reuniting with the order's mother community in France. The North American community separated from the mother community in 1922. Now the French community, which has not flourished as well as the American, has appealed to the Sacred Congregation of Religious in Rome that the two unite.

Union with the mother community in France is still pending, although the general chapter of the American community expressed favor of the action.

THE BASILIAN FATHERS were founded in 1522 at Annonay, France, where the mother community still resides. The first Basilians came to America in 1850 at the invitation of Bishop de Charbonnel, first bishop of Toronto, who had been a student at Annonay.

In 1852, St. Michael's College was founded in Toronto, and in 1870, Assumption College was taken over from the Jesuit Fathers, who founded the college in Windsor, Ont. in 1857.

First Novitiate of the Basilians in America was founded in Toronto in 1893, a second Novitiate was established in the Basilian residence on Augustine St., Rochester, in 1942. By 1900, establishment of two schools and a seminary were made in Texas and in 1922 the Basilian Fathers in America were made an independent congregation from the French community with a Motherhouse in Toronto. This took place as a result of civil laws in France at the time which made difficult any further union between the two communities. The French order, appealed to the Sacred Congregation of Religious in Rome and the separation was made.

THE PONTIFICAL Institute of Mediaeval Studies was founded at St. Michael's College in Toronto in 1928 and in the same year, the Basilian Fathers established Catholic Central High School in Detroit. (The Basilians began work at St. Mary's High School in Calgary, Alberta in 1932 and in 1938 started mission work among the Mexican people of the diocese of Galveston, Texas.

St. Thomas More College was founded in Saskatoon, Sask. in 1936 and a year later the Basilians took charge of Aquinas Institute in Rochester. St. Thomas University in Houston, Texas was established in 1949 and the latest foundation of the community, St. John Fisher College in Rochester, was made in 1951.

Besides the many educational institutions of the Basilian Fathers and their mission work in Texas, they maintain five parishes in Canada and two in the U.S.

He has also handled tax role extension, set up the city budget, kept a record of all merchandise purchased under mortgage contract within the city, and handled dog licenses and delinquency reports.

"In addition, he holds the job of housing manager of the city's Stewart Court housing project being responsible for lease agreements, assignment of apartments, collection of rents and evictions. He must prepare the jury list and handle election supplies.

Summer Safety
Summer comes and small boys head for the swimming hole. Oldsters also feel the lure of cool streams. Knowing how to swim is protection from only one of the hazards of the favorite recreation, the Red Cross warns.
Taking to the water in makeshift boats can be an invitation to death. Hidden hazards may break a diver's neck. Don't jump into the river; there may be submerged trees or boulders. People who can't swim should stay in shallow water and watch for holes or sudden drops in the stream bed.
Campers and picnickers should be sure that drinking and cooking water is safe. You'll live longer if you follow these simple water safety precautions.

Action Asked In Comic Book War
Action of individual parents and civic groups in discouraging the sale of lurid comic books and obscene magazines to minors was urged in a report to Police Chief William A. Winfield, made by Police Captain Henry H. Jensen of the Youth Bureau.
"Outstanding vigilance" on the part of parents and such groups as parent-teacher associations "must be encouraged," Captain Jensen said in his report.
The youth bureau director said that 80 per cent of the comic books offered for sale are "packed with every form of vice, sadism and violence. In many cases of children in trouble, we can trace the influence of these so-called comic books as the main idea of the child's difficulties."
