Bishop Foery Announces Syracuse Diocese Plans

Bishop Walter A. Foery, Bishop of Syracuse and a native of Rochester, has announced plans for improvements in the Syracuse Diocese. The plans were released on the occasion of the Bishop's seventeenth anniversary as Bishop, Wednesday, Aug. 18.

BISHOP FOERY

A site has already been acquired for a new Chancery on a downtown Syracuse site and also plans have been made for construction of a new wing for Loyette Rest, to be known as St. Plus X Hall.

Bishop Foery made known that growth of the Syracuse Diocese has made the present Chancery inadequate and that the new building will house the Chancery, Office of Education, Propagation of the Faith and the Cemetery Offices.

The Syracuse Diocese now has 146 Parishes, 36 Missions, 54 Parochial elementary schools and 17 Catholic High Schools, plus three Catholic private high schools. Two more parochial elementary schools are under construction and four are in the process of planning.

Senate Group Kills Obscene Literature Bill

Washington, D.C. — (RNS) — Legislation designed to curb the distribution of obscene literature through the mails appears to be a casualty of the Congressional adjournment rush.

The Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee has sidetracked a bill passed by the House last year to give the Postmaster General authority to impound the mail of any person whom he had reason to believe was introducing indecent material in the mails, contrary to law.

THIS LEGISLATION was strongly supported by religious groups during public hearings. The National Organization for Decent Literature, National Council of Catholic Men, and Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs were among groups directly supporting the bill.

Senator Frank Carlson (R-Kan.) blamed the apparent pigeonholing of the measure on the fact that the committee has been busy with civil service pay legislation, postal rate increases and post office department reorganization.

"I haven't had an opportunity to work on this bill," he told Religious News Service. "When we did bring the bill up in executive session for discussion the members thought we ought to have further public hearings before reporting it out. There has not been time, and I personally, am very sorry because I am in favor of the bill."

SENATOR OLIN D. Johnston (D-S.C.), ranking minority member, said, in his opinion, committee members favor the purpose of the bill but fear giving too broad a grant of authority to the Postmaster General lest he become a public censor.

"We want to be sure there is sufficient limitation in the bill to safeguard freedom of the press," he said.

This is the second consecutive Congress in which such legislation has failed of enactment.

106 Girls Attend Activities At Camp Stella Maris

One hundred and six girls from the Rochester area are attending a two week encampment at Camp Stella Maris. The girls are carrying on new programs in swimming, craft and dramatics.

Mrs. Durkin has introduced several new projects in the Craft Lodge, while Judy Madigan and Anisia Kozyk have kept the girls entertained in dramatics. The Sisters of Mercy supervise the kitchen and dining room assisted by four high school boys.

Rev. Eugene H. McFarland is resident director. Both the boys and girls staffs are planning the annual camp social and fish fry to be held on Friday, Sept. 3. Supper will be served in the newly-enlarged dining room from 5 until 8 p.m. Tickets are one dollar each and may be procured on Sept. 3 at camp or at the Columbus Civic Center, 50 Chestnut Street, Rochester.

Listeners also reported that the broadcasts ridiculed belief in purgatory ("There is no such place . . ."), the Blessed Sacrament ("God in a little box . . ."), and dogma ("A church that changes doctrine every four or five years . . .").

Corning Police Chief Cited For Untiring Campaign

Corning—Corning's popular police chief and a St. Mary's parishioner—Roman J. Lawrence, was cited by the Corning Leader newspaper for his untiring efforts in police work.

The citation came in the publication's feature, "Meet Your Neighbor," here presented in part:

The friendliness of a New York State mounted policeman, the example of an older brother and the subsequent actions of traffic wrecklessness which snuffed out the life of his brother led Corning's Police Chief Roman J. Lawrence into police work, then confirmed him with a personal reason for enforcing the law.

The chief, a native Brooklynite, left New York City at an early age with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lawrence and moved to Yorkville near Cooperstown, which he claims as his "home town." He spent his early life on the Fenmore Farm near Cooperstown, the site of the current "Farm Museum."

Sgt. Jack Cunningham, a New York State policeman of the mounted patrol, who befriended Chief Lawrence when he was a pupil at the Brookwood elementary school five miles from Cooperstown, "first directed my interest to police work," the chief observes.

AFTER COMPLETING his schooling at Cooperstown High School, the chief followed in the steps of his older brother, Anthony and became a member of the New York State Police on July 1, 1931.

His first assignment was with Troop "A" at Batavia. In subsequent years he served in many places, including Cohocton in Steuben where he spent part of 1933. His assignments covered most of western New York State. During these early years he received rigid training, being given only one night off every second week, no days off, and short vacations.

He was given cause for dedication to enforcement of traffic regulations when a wreckless driver passing on a curve was responsible for the death of his brother, Anthony, coming in the opposite direction. The accident which forced the brother into a roadside tree, occurred July 27, 1935. Anthony's first child was born three months later.

A second brother, Leo, was killed while on maneuvers with the Army in 1942.

CHIEF LAURENCE attended several police schools while with the State Police, including traffic, law enforcement, and traffic and accident investigation courses.

He was promoted to corporal in the State Police in March, 1949, serving his first tour of duty in this rank at Sidney with Troop "C". From Sidney, the troop served Sullivan, Delaware, and Broome counties.

On March 1, 1952, Chief Lawrence became "Chief" Lawrence when he took on the responsibility of directing the Corning Police Department. Although he has considerable more latitude in the Corning post, responsibility is no respecter of hours and the chief is often called on for advice or to make an important decision in the middle of the night.

THE CHIEF and Mrs. Lawrence, the former Miss Genevieve Eastman of Albany, were married June 23, 1942, in the chapel at Niagara University. They have three children and make their home at 77 West Fourth Street. Their children are Emily Joanne, 11; Joseph, 7, and John, 6.

In his free time, Chief Lawrence finds time for a little golf, is an ardent bowler, and likes to hunt. "I am a little handicapped at these things at present because of the accident to my foot, but I hope to get back in shape in time for hunting season this fall" the chief has been heard to comment many times this summer at headquarters. He recently suffered a severe foot injury in a lawn mower accident.

Boxing Champ Lays Success To Rosary

Melbourne, Australia—(RNS) —Patrick "Pat" Austin, an English Commonwealth lightweight boxing champion, attributes his success in and out of the ring to daily recitation of the Rosary.

He told the Young Christian Workers movement here that just before all his fights he and his trainer say the Rosary with the special intention of victory, if God wails it that way.

Mr. Ford, who was a member of the YCW in his home town of Orange, New South Wales, said he learned all his boxing in the movement.

"The better Catholics you are," he said, "the better will be your success in sport and in your life generally. You should remember that your greatest possession is your Christian Faith."

Chinese Salute Tortured Brothers

Yanover, N.C.—(RNS) —The third annual Pacific Region Chinese Catholic Conference here sent a cable to Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa expressing their "sincere sympathy and brotherly love for the tortured people on the mainland of China."

"We fully realize that under the tyranny of atheistic Communism China's mainland has become one great camp of enslavement," the cable said. "Therefore we, as followers of Jesus Christ, the Saviour of the world, pray that the day of their liberation may not be too far distant."

"To the Catholics of China, we send a special word of Christian brotherly love and an assurance of our continued prayers that they may have the strength to endure all sufferings for the love of Him who died on the Cross that all mankind might be saved and come to the knowledge of the truth."

Smart Class

He came home from school proudly exhibiting a book which he said he had won for accuracy in natural history.

"How did you do that?" asked his mother.
"The teacher asked me how many legs an ostrich had and I said three."
"But an ostrich only has two legs," his mother replied.
"Well, all the rest of the class said four."

Tito Dictatorship As Red As Moscow Congress Group Told

Washington — (NC) — Another warning on Tito has been sounded here. It is worth repeating, because it may not have received the notice it deserves.

An American who conducted a business in Yugoslavia for 20 years after World War I told the Senate Internal Security Committee:

1. That Tito is an international Communist just like the Red leaders in Moscow. "Yugoslav Communists are in no way lesser Communists than those of the Soviet bloc," he said. "On the contrary, they scream their super-Communism."

2. That it is "simply ridiculous" for an intelligent person to speak of the Yugoslav Reds as being "national" or "nicer" Communists, as opposed to international Communists.

3. That Tito is in "a desperate condition"; that he has "almost wrecked the economy" of his country, and that he "would have been finished before this," if it hadn't been for the aid the United States sent him.

The witness was W. H. Smyth of New York. He served in the U.S. Army in World War I. He took up residence in Belgrade in 1921 and remained there until 1941, when the nazis overran the country. He had an export-import business, he said, but this had been confiscated. By the Communist regime without compensation to him. He has kept in close touch with affairs, he explained, by talking with people who have recently left Yugoslavia and by reading its press.

Mr. Smyth, who should know a good deal more about it than a lot of people in this country, says we should place no stock in this argument. He also testifies to something others have long contended, namely, that U. S. aid is what has kept this thoroughgoing Communist in his dictatorship.
