Mumford—Celebration of High Mass this Sunday (Sept. 19) at 11 a.m. will mark the centennial observance of Mumford's St. Patrick's Church. The Rev. William J. Devereaux, pastor of St. Patrick's and also of St. Columba Church in Caledonia, will celebrate the Centennial Mass.

HIS EXCELLENCY Bishop Kearney will preside and preach the sermon following the Mass. History of the Mumford parish is presented in a newly prepared booklet, entitled "100 Years of Service." The present St. Patrick's Church in Mumford, according to the booklet, was built in 1854 by the Rev. James McGlew, resident pastor at nearby Scottsville.

The Mumford Church, in the early years, a mission of St. Mary's in Scottsville, also served the Catholics of Caledonia until 1885 when St. Columba's Church was erected in Caledonia.

WHEN A RECTORY and resident pastor were provided for St. Columba's in 1888, the Mumford church became, as it is today, a mission of Caledonia.

An anniversary reception for parishioners and friends will be held this Sunday in the Mumford Town Hall from 3 to 5 p.m. Entertainment will be provided and an informal tea will be served by the ladies of the parish. George Ball is general chairman of the celebration.

U. S. Urges Reds Testify Under New Immunity Law

(N.C.W.C. News Service)

An invitation has been extended to communists in this country to give what information they possess to the Federal Government. It is one of the first actions taken under the eight anti-communist laws enacted by Congress in recent weeks.

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, Jr., made the offer in a speech in Plymouth, Mass. He urged those commensured in the tolls of the communist conspiracy who have wanted to break with that conspiracy once they learned its real purposes to resume their normal place in society.

THE INVITATION was inspired by the new witness-immunity law. Asked for comment on reports that the communists will launch a violent smear campaign against witnesses, particularly those who break with the party, Father John F. Cronin, S.S., as-was a strike, Mr. Brownell said. However, he was unable to say against how many upon the Justice department intended to act.

Mr. Brownell called the expiration law "a very important weapon" in fighting the communist. This measure takes away the citizenship of persons convicted of advocating the violent overthrow of the government.

Nun Tells BBC Conductor Of Beauty Of Symphony

London—(NC)—Over the British radio network, Sir Malcolm Sargent, famed conductor of the British Broadcasting Company Symphony Orchestra, read a letter sent to him by a Carmelite nun.

"A last month," the Sister wrote, "by a very special permission, we had in our monastery a wireless set in order to listen to the canonization of Pope Plus X. As it took place on a Saturday, the set had to stay in the house over Sunday and we were allowed to listen to your concert."

"SOME OF US had heard no music since we entered the convent nearly 30 years ago, so that suddenly to hear a full symphony orchestra was such an overwhelming, breath-taking pleasure that when the opportunity came, we felt we simply must say 'Thank you'—to you very specially and to each one in the orchestra.

"You can probably take Schubert's Unfinished Symphony in your daily round, without being awestruck and without being aware of the magic and beauty of an exquisite phrase of music; that you are, letting escape into the air."

"BUT WE WERE left just praising God in living such gifts to man. We cannot show our gratitude by applause nor by coming to another concert but we have our own job to do for

Master Tailors Hear Pope Rap Immodest Fashions

Casaleggio, Italy—(NC)—A warning against fashion styles that offend good taste and decency was sounded by Pope Plus XII at an audience in his summer palace to delegates attending the Sixth International Congress of Master Tailors.

He told the craftsmen that the materialistic spirit which inspires such a great part of modern civilization has not spared sectors of the world of fashion. He said that all too often modern styles, instead of elevating, and ennobling, the human person, tend to degrade and debase it, and dress become a provocative luxury which ignores every sense of shame.

The Holy Father told the master tailors that their trade still suffers much of the curse of mass production and thus enables them to enjoy the exercise of personal interest in their work and their products. He urged them never to consent to current tendencies to improperly bid to respect the norms of good taste, decency and healthy, honest elegance.

"It is not possible," the Pope said, "to divide human life to fix certain sectors where morality would not have something to say." He urged his hearers never to allow themselves to be misled only by material considerations, but to remember always the profound human significance of their work and to keep it on a lofty plane.

The Pontiff said it is perfectly normal for men to have special dress for various occasions. His holiness with his sentiments ranging from joy to sorrow, but he added that decency and morality should be preserved at all times.
