John Baynes Takes New Post

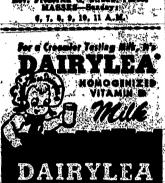

Newark-John Baynes, former Aquinas Institute cage star, has resigned as basketball coach at Clyde Central School to accept a position as head football coach at East Rochester High School. Baynes, who has been at the Clyde School for the past eight years, will assume duties at East

Rochester next September. In his seven years at Clyde, and including his four triumphs in the current campaign, Baynes has seen his clubs win 101 games and lose 33.

Baynes, one of the most popular sports figures in the Wayne County sector, will take over the grid duties of Gene Bouchard, who recently resigned at East Rochester. He will teach social
