Detroit Archdiocese Buys Hotel As Home For Aged

Detroit — (NC) — The Archdiocese of Detroit has acquired a 700-room hotel as a residence for the aging and retired. It was announced here by a Chancery office spokesman for His Eminence Edward Cardinal Mooney, Archbishop of Detroit.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT stated that the Hotel Detroiter, close to the heart of downtown Detroit, had been acquired to provide a residence and activities center for the aging and retired clergy and laityolk of the archdiocese.

"Gifts to the 1955 Archdiocesan Development Fund will be used to meet the cost of purchasing the hotel," the Chancery spokesman said. He added that the hotel will be taken over on June 1 and that steps will be taken immediately to convert it.

Plans call for accommodations for approximately 300, including single persons, married persons and a limited number of chronically ill, when the residence is first opened, but that "in the near future remaining rooms will be made available and will bring the total capacity to approximately 650 guests."

FACILITIES PLANNED for the new center include a large chapel, medical and rehabilitation departments, and arts-and-crafts center, diet kitchen and medical dispensaries on each residential floor. The building is located a block away from St. Patrick's Church, which will allow residents to maintain a regular parish association in addition to an "in residence" religious accommodation.

The new home will also serve as a downtown "club" and center for aged who live in private homes, the spokesman said, and to encourage this feature an organized program of activities and interests will be conducted.

Operation and administration of the center has been assigned to the Carmelite Sisters for the Aged and Infirm of Germantown, N.Y.

Report Cites Church Aid To Refugees

Geneva, Switzerland —(NC)— Nearly 200,000 refugees from tyranny in all parts of the world have found new homes and jobs in the free world since the end of the war through the efforts of War Relief Services—National Catholic Welfare Conference.

This was reported here in an article in the first volume of the Migration Digest, publication here by the International Catholic Migration Commission. Author of the article is James J. Norris, European director of the N.C.W.C. relief agency.

HE NOTED that the official agency of the American hierarchy for overseas aid had sponsored and found homes in the United States for 140,000 refugees under the Displaced Persons Act of 1948. An additional 30,000 refugees from Europe, the Middle East, and Hong Kong, he said, were resettled in Canada, South America, Australia and Africa, under W.R.S.-N.C.W.C. auspices.

Under the Refugee Relief Act of 1953, he pointed out, 16,433 refugees had been guaranteed homes and jobs in the United States through W.R.S.-N.C.W.C. Nearly 5,000 persons who have made their way to freedom from Iron Curtain countries, he added, have been helped to begin a new life in the West.

Some 6,000 refugees have been assisted in their emigration plans by travel loans furnished by the American Catholic organization, he wrote.

Vernacular Ritual Granted Canada

Ottawa, Ont. — (NC) — Use of the Latin-French and Latin-English rituals has been extended to all the dioceses of Canada by the Sacred Congregation of Rites, it is announced by the Canadian Catholic Conference.

The permission grants use of the French and English languages in the administration of the Sacraments of Baptism, Extreme Unction and Marriage by using the rituals already approved for France in 1947 and for the United States in 1954, the organization of the Canadian Hierarchy said.

U. S. Newsmen Hear Pope Urge Fidelity To Truth

Vatican City—(RNS)—Pope Pius XII urged a group of United States newsmen touring Europe and the Near East to be "fearlessly faithful" to the truth.

He said that while this task is not an easy one, it is "a precious service, as well as your bounden duty to the hundreds of thousands of people who are going to be influenced by your words."

The Pope granted an extraordinary audience to the group, led by James L. Wick of New York, president of the Wick Newspapers. He spoke to the delegation, comprising representatives of newspapers and radio stations in eleven states, in English.

"Eternal truth and eternal justice must be your strength and your monitor," the Pontiff said. "Hence, with fervent prayers for your success in your profession, we are happy to be able to call down upon you and those near and dear to you the blessing of Almighty God."

Members of the group said after the audience that the Pope appeared to have made "a remarkable comeback" from his recent grave illness.

BUYING POWER AND THE CATHOLIC PRESS

ily Chooses A Home near Parochial School and Church." In view of the population figures and on the basis of the combined investments of Church and People, it is a matter of common sense that such buying power should have an exclusive medium to reach the source in a direct line of communication.

Some prospective advertisers will say, "The daily paper covers the Catholic population in its circulation." Surely, that is true. But doesn't the evening paper cover approximately the same audience as the morning paper . . . and are not advertising messages repeated morning and night to the same people?

Authentic volume circulation as evidenced in ABC newspapers (Audit Bureau of Circulations) of which both your daily newspapers and the Courier Journal are members, can be likened to a tremendous shower of rain that covers all of Monroe County, let us say. Although the rain fell all over the county, not everybody got wet. Not in one shower alone. Some were in office buildings, some in their cars, some at home, in theatres, or elsewhere. The next shower, and the next, will catch a different number of people exposed.

Like the torrential shower, the same holds true in your morning and evening paper and in your Catholic Courier Journal. Next to these daily newspapers, this medium is the largest IN POINT OF AUDITED CIRCULATION in Monroe County. The real estate advertising in this newspaper is growing in impact value because of emphasis (or repetition if you prefer to call it that) and the exclusive readership of the paper itself.

DIRECT RESULTS from advertising are obtained in the Courier Journal if you use current sales psychology in advertising to this reader audience. Advertisers are proving it every day.

Some of you have salesmen in the field who are quite proud of the product they are selling. Let us say that it's paint that glows in the dark! It covers the same area that any other paint would cover, but, it glows! Put yourself in the salesman's shoes when a prospective customer gives as his reason for not buying your paint, this gem, "If I bought your paint I'd have every paint salesman in town after me to buy HIS paint, even though it didn't cover as well, nor glow in the dark."

So, put a GLOW on your real estate advertising friends, those of you who have not tried this medium. Buy advertising space here because it's GOOD BUSINESS to do so. The circulation of this newspaper, the buying power of the reader audience, the weekend timing of publication and United States Postal Delivery are all in your favor. Come on in! We're as near as your phone, dial BAker 6210. Just say "Real Estate Advertising please" . . . it's a magical word, and there's magic in it for you!

New Testament Published In Braille

New York — (RNS) — Publication of a 10-volume complete New Testament in Braille was announced here by the Xavier Society for the Blind, the nation's only Roman Catholic publishing house for the blind.

The first volume of the series is an introduction to the Testament with a full glossary of terms used; volumes 2-5 contain the Gospel, and the remaining five include the Acts of the Apostles, the Epistles and the Apocalypse.

The Rev. John H. Klooke S.J., national director of the society, said the entire project was completed at a cost of about $10,000.

While sighted persons may buy the set for blind friends at a price of $20, blind persons themselves may purchase it for $12, he said. The priest added that the volumes may be obtained free on loan from the Xavier Library here by any blind person in the U.S. or Canada.

'Best People' Urged In Vital Jobs

Washington, D.C. — (RNS) — America's "best people" should enter the fields of government and education, the Rev. James Keller, M.M. of New York, founder of the Christophers, told a Communion breakfast here attended by more than 600 agents and employees of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Preceding the breakfast, the FBI workers attended Mass at St. Matthew's Cathedral.

Father Keller said the FBI offers a good example of "integrity and devotion" in government service. He warned that unless the best qualified leaders of society are attracted to public life, the gap will be filled by others who do not have high moral or spiritual ideals.

It was the sixth annual Communion breakfast sponsored by employees of the FBI.
