St. Elizabeth Guild House For Girls

St. Elizabeth Guild House is a home for working girls and students and is a Catholic Charities agency under the direction of Rev. Eugene H. McFarland. For many years the St. Elizabeth Auxillary has worked unceasingly to make a comfortable and real home for the young girls residing at No. 1 Field St.

Through membership dues and proceeds from card parties held regularly at the Guild House, the Auxillary has completely furnished a girls' lounge comparable to that of any in the city. To the young girls whose studies and work bring her from Nevada, Florida, Al-

This large, comfortable room is the center of many activities. The tired visiting nurse student finds relaxation in either watching her favorite television program or in a game of bridge. The R.R.I. student may be found at a desk with her homework while the hairdressing students are grouped in another corner to discuss the day's classwork. The comfortable furniture offers a respite to last year's student who now toils in one of the offices, factories or hospitals in the city.

In addition to this recent project the Guild Auxillary has in the past cleared a large mortgage on the property and redecorated and furnished several rooms thus enabling the St. Elizabeth Guild House to serve 133 young girls this year, give 14,536 days care and serve 25,910 meals.
