Nazareth Cadets Exhibit New Uniforms At Review

Presenting a striking picture in their new parade uniforms, the Nazareth Hall Cadets stepped smartly to the music of the Aquinas Band at their annual Battalion Review held Sunday, May 29 on the Alameda grounds.

The Battalion was reviewed by the guest inspectors: Rev. Leo C. Moorey, pastor of Saint Patrick Church; Captain John D. Shea, commanding officer of the University of Rochester Officers Training Corps; and Commander Harold S. Dinecke, commanding officer of the Naval Reserve Militia.

The four platoons exhibited maneuvers followed by a ceremonial presentation of awards merited by the following outstanding cadets: honor division, cavaliers, accepted by Cadet Lt. Col. John Reichert; outstanding cadet, Walter B. Duffy Memorial medal for resident students, Cadet Joseph Welch; good citizenship, Cadet Michael Keenan; exceptional work in band, Cadet Sgt. Joseph Cameron; outstanding work in "glee" club, Cadet Dennis Lobello, and "altar" boy awards, Cadets Thomas Marini, Paul Ross, Clark Rittersbach, Dennis Caruana, Stephen Fott, James Clapp, Christopher Hutson, Joseph Coughlin, Joseph Kocinski, Wayne Laccese, Thomas Rohr and John Zambuto.

After the ceremony, Father Moorey gave a short address in which he expressed public thanks to those men who have done so
