

THEIR GOLDEN JUBILEE

OBSERVING their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beh of Webster prepare to cut the anniversary cake. A photograph of their wedding is on the table in front of the cake. (Glynis Photo)

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beh celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, Oct. 23 at Holy Trinity Church, Webster, with a high Mass celebrated by the Rev. George Kalb, Brother Benjamin, a son of the Beh's, assisted as server. Another son, Arthur Beh, played and sang during the Mass.

Following the renewal of their vows, Mr. and Mrs. Beh received the blessing of Pope Pius XII and congratulations from Archbishop Giovanni Amleto Clocnani, Apostolic Delegate to the United States.

A BREAKFAST was held at Sweet's Farm with Father Kalb, the Rev. Elmer W. Heindl, the bride party and the children, and grandchildren in attendance. The bride attendants were Catherine Smith, Minnie Schardt and Louis Beh.

Two hundred guests attended an open house at Sweet's Farm in the evening. Other children besides Brother Benjamin and Arthur are Herman, Stanley and Wilbur Beh, Marie Nugent, Jeanette Conrow, Mildred Rauber, Elsie Rauber and Virginia Imma-soete. They also have 23 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

AMONG WOMEN Christmas Programs

By Mary Lennon Snyder

Last week in discussing Christmas plans, I quoted from an article in the N.C.C.W. Monthly Message of November 1955 in which suggestions were made for individual and group Christmas observances. In "The Forum for the Committee on Home and School Associations" after listing the suggestions on the Advent Wreath which I listed, these further suggestions are made:

"Most probably all parents, during their parochial school careers, have shared a role in preparing a manger for the Christ Child, contributing to His comfort according to the merits of their 'good deeds.' A teacher and a small group of pupils will really intrigue their audience with a demonstration of this pleasing custom. Of course, the figure of the Christ Child never appears before December 25. The same tribute to the Infant Saviour can be developed in the home, so that both phases of the child world (the home and the school) are stressing similar religious preparations for this great feast.

"THE LAST part of the December program with a 'home setting' can be as simple or as elaborate as the Program committee chooses. Information concerning traditional Christmas greens and flowers, Christmas goodies, Christ-candle, blessing of the crib and of the Christmas tree will be of interest and of importance to your audience, since these seasonal customs can be observed in the classroom as well as in the home. Simple display will add to the effectiveness of the program.

"Just as we strive to expand our sphere of influence into the entire neighborhood (after we have swept our houses clean), so we can easily visualize neighborhood or community activity during this beautiful season of Christ's birthday observance.

"THE SUGGESTED resource to help in planning this type of program is a pamphlet costing three cents entitled "Christmas Eve in Programs for the Home" and may be obtained by writing Conception Abbey Press, Conception, Mo.

Oriental Theme Dance Planned At Nazareth

An Oriental motif will highlight Nazareth College's first attempt to combine Freshman and Sophomore dances on Nov. 18 in the college auditorium. Carl Dangler and his orchestra will provide music for the "Ming Fling."
