Scout-Capades Stated For War Memorial

Red-headed members of Monroe County's Boy Scout movement will have their day of glory in January. Five scouts of the Oretiana Council will be selected for major participation in Scout-Capades to be held at the Community War Memorial Jan. 20-21.

Some 35 red-headed Scouts of all classes have entered competition for the posts of honor. Final selection of the five "lucky boys" will be made at the War Memorial on Wednesday, Dec. 28.

PROGRESS OF a boy through the various phases of Scouting, from Cubbing through Scout Master, will be traced by means of the red-haired Scouts. The Scout-Capades committee felt that the selection of red-haired boys would aid the audience in following a Scout through the various activities to be presented at Scout-Capades.

The boys are required to portray a Cub Scout, large Cub Scout, Boy Scout, Explorer Scout and Scout Leader. Two red-headed parents are also required by the committee in describing the activities of adults in Scouting.
