Conversion Told On Radio

Hollywood — (NC) — "When I came to the third station—where Christ falls for the first time — I knew I had found something I had been looking for all my life." In this simple manner, Jack Owens West Coast TV star begins the dramatic story of his conversion to the Catholic faith, on the new Mary-knoll series on radio here in Hollywood. Pictured above is Owens and his family, Mrs. Owens, Mary Ann, Jack Jr., Noel and little Cynthia, Owens, whose whole family appears on T.V. is author of such songs as "El Neigbor, How Soon and the Hut Hut Song."

Missionary Has 'Offering' For Communist Collection

Tanay, Philippines — (NC) — Columban Father Arthur Price, pastor of this little town on the island of Luzon, answered a loud knock on his rectory door.

Standing outside were two desperadoes, dirty, unkempt, unshaven. In a moment Father Price, a veteran of 20 years in the Philippines, recognized his visitors as Huk, remnants of the communist outlaws who had terrorized half of Luzon for several years.

"WHAT CAN I do for you, gentlemen?" he asked as nonchalantly as he could.

"We are taking up a collection for the Huk. Father, and we want you to give five pesos." It was little enough, $2.50 in American money, but there was a principle involved. The Columban missionary did some quick thinking.

"I AM GOING to give you something better than five pesos," he said. Reaching into his pocket for the little gifts that he always carried with him, he handed each of them a Rosary.

Blankets Sent To 'Quake' Victims

New York — (NC) — Catholic Relief Services — National Catholic Welfare Conference has sent some 800 blankets to earthquake victims in Lebanon, where damage has been reported by officials as "about the worst that Lebanon has ever experienced." The shipment was sent to Father Francis B. Kennedy who is the representative of the Pontifical Mission of Assistance in Beirut, Lebanon.

Non-Catholic Aids Catholic School Building Campaign

Fort Wayne, Ind. — (RNS) — An anonymous non-Catholic here donated $2,000 to the Allen County Catholic High Schools campaign as an expression of appreciation for Catholic support of public schools.

This support, he said, should give Catholics "special rights and the highest degree of cooperation from the public school system."

A member of the Fort Wayne school board, the donor lauded Catholics for "cheerfully paying the share" of the public school system's costs. He expressed special praise for "those groups desirous of and willing to conduct their own schools."

The comments were made in a letter to Archbishop John F. Noll, Bishop of Fort Wayne, that accompanied the gift.

The campaign is aimed at raising $2,000,000 for two new high schools to supplement the facilities of Central Catholic High School here which now serves some 1,400 pupils.

Knights To Hold Detroit Convention

Detroit — (NC) — Michigan The convention, to be held in Detroit will be the supreme convention of the Knights of Columbus, which will mark the 450th anniversary of Columbus' death.
