School Of The Holy Childhood To Conduct Campaign For Funds

Contributions toward operating expenses of the School of the Holy Childhood, 215 Andrews St., Rochester, will be sought in a campaign among friends of the school later this month, it was announced today.

John M. Hedges heads the campaign committee, which will meet at 8 p.m. Friday, April 6, in the school.

Formally established in 1931 by Bishop Kearney and placed under the protection of the Child Jesus, the vocational center for exceptional children was opened that year in its present location, the former Our Lady of Victory School building, under the direction of Sister M. St. Mark, S.S.J.

HUNDREDS of persons have donated time and money to the institute to supplement the limited tuition income. The latter provides only approximately one-third the operating costs. Sister St. Mark said the school was founded through voluntary contributions and is maintained through these sources. Two principal groups have been aiding the school, the Advisory Council and the Guild.

THE SCHOOL originated in 1936 when Sister St. Mark then principal of Immaculate Conception School, Rochester, inaugurated a program of "staff classes" for slow learners in academic subjects and whose other abilities are given special attention. Both boys and girls are taught the social amenities, general maintenance work, cooking and typing. Special classes are offered the boys in metal crafts and woodworking, and the girls in sewing, grooming, home economics, laundering, etc. Particular groups have been aiding the school, the Advisory Council and the Guild.

courses are highlighted in the school's curriculum supplemented by elementary academic classes. The school is designed for children from 6 to 10 years of age who are slow learners in academic subjects and whose other abilities are given special attention.
