Congress Vote Approves Pray For Peace Postmark

Washington — (NC) — The Senate has passed and sent to the White House a bill authorizing the Post Office Department to stamp mail with a "Pray for Peace" postmark.

The White House press office said the day after passage that it was uncertain when President Eisenhower will consider the bill.

The measure, which was introduced in the House last year by Rep. Louis C. Rabaut of Michigan, would permit first and second-class post offices to have a special canceling stamp or postmarking die to imprint the phrase on mail. The measure was earlier adopted by the House.

Rep. Rabaut said here that enactment of the bill into law will mean that "United States mail delivered here and abroad will manifest to the world an exhortation of our great country to people everywhere to raise their minds and hearts to the Supreme Creator of the Universe and pray for peace."

Oxford University Now Half Christian

London — (NC) — Religion is ousting dialectic atheistic materialism among the students at Oxford University, an undergraduate survey has disclosed.

It said 51 per cent of the men and 63 per cent of the women students now practice their religion regularly, while an average 25 per cent are agnostic or atheist.

The survey in the current issue of Cherwell, the undergraduate magazine, showed that six per cent of the men and eight per cent of the women strengthen their faith through going to Oxford. Least interested in religion are the students of philosophy, two-thirds of whom are agnostic or atheist.

All teachers agreed that the university is more religious today than in the 1920's and 1930's. Student debating society rules have been altered to permit the subject to be discussed.

Catholic reaction to the survey from Father Thomas Corbishley, S.J., Master of Campion Hall, Catholic house of studies at Oxford, was that religion is doing "very well." He told the Catholic Herald, national weekly, that about 30 students become Catholics every year.
