20 Young Couples, Children Join For Cana Group Picnic

Two Cana study clubs, including twenty young married couples, gathered with their children for a "family" picnic at Churchville Park last Sunday.

During the winter and spring, the couples have been meeting for study, conferences and prayer under the instruction of the Rev. Daniel V. Hogan, Rochester Deanery moderator, Diocesan Council of Catholic Women.

Cana groups meet once a month in the home of a member. Conferences are given on the meaning, blessings and methods of Christian marriage and time is given for the discussion of common problems.

FATHER HOGAN said the couples are "impressed by meeting others of similar marriage situations and in realizing common interests in making their marriages wholesome and happier."

Over fifty children of study club members attended the picnic.

Families of the following were present: Messers, and Mesdames Frank Hill, William Glasow, John Fetner, Robert Foss, Richard Ostrye, George Mikel, Donald Mikel, Kaseel, Haded, William Donovan, Joseph Geary, Larry Herendeen, Rick Pillard, Chester Halwda, Ed. Malczewski, Lloyd McKeown, Thomas Hemple and Martin Foss.
