

Follow Christ, Columbus Coming Knights Told

Corning.—The Very Rev. Thomas Condon, S.A., addressing more than 100 men and women attending the annual Columbus Day dinner of Corning Council, Knights of Columbus, at the KC Home last Saturday evening, urged his listeners to be true followers of Christ and Columbus.

Monignor Condon, superior of St. John's Atonement Seminary at Montour Falls, is a former director of the Ave. Marie Radio Hour and also a former director of St. Christopher's Inn at Graymoor, near Garrison.

He described the Inn as a place which helps men—the knights of the road, those who suffer from wanderlust and those who, for one reason or another, are separated from their families and their true positions in life. Those who operate the Inn, he said, have been doing God's work for more than 50 years as Christ-followers, bearers of Christ. In closing, he said, "Give God a chance and He will give us all of the help we need."

DANIEL HARDEMAN served as toastmaster and introduced the Rev. Ralph Thomas, S.A., chaplain of Corning Council, who gave the invocation to open the program at the KC home.

Among those who spoke briefly were Peace Justice Thomas E. Kelley, past grand knight; Dist. Atty. Dominick L. Gabrielli of Bath; Atty. Jacob G. Welch of this city; F. Dudley McLaughlin, deputy grand knight, and Charles W. Houston, grand knight.

Houston announced that the Knights of Columbus of New York State this year offers college scholarships to 30 seniors in accredited high schools. He said applications for these scholarships may be filed with Raymond E. Older, local chairman.

Introduced, in addition to those mentioned, were Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Gabrielli of Bath, parents of the district attorney; Joseph McIntyre, who prepared the dinner; Mrs. McIntyre, president of the Ladies of Columbus; Mrs. Houston, Mrs. Kelley and Peter J. Martuscello and Paul Tammaro, co-chairman of the dinner committee.

Music for the dinner and for a dancing party which followed was provided by the Lee Inghram Trio.

Probation Aide Stresses Religious Youth Education

Geneva.—Religious training in the home is a basic and indispensable foundation for youth, Albert W. Roche, of the Division of Probation, N. Y. S. Department of Correction, told the Holy Name Men's Club of St. Stephen Church Sunday.

Roche's subject was "Youth In Conflict With The Law." The department official addressed 100 club members at their communion breakfast at the Knights of Columbus Home. The men previously attended the 8:30 a.m. Mass in St. Stephen's Church and received Holy Communion.

ROCHE DESCRIBED the expanded program in the Department of Correction with special reference to state aid for probation services in all courts.

He said there is a need for greater facilities to screen offenders—between those who should be imprisoned and those who should immediately be put on probation upon conviction.

He estimated that 70 percent of the offenders because of unfortunate personal, economic, or emotional or domestic circumstances commit offenses. These are not in reality hardened or malicious criminals.

Roche also spoke on foster home care for young offenders, placing them in new homes where the home with natural parents is found inadequate.

THERE IS NO universal or all embracing panacea for the solution of the problem of juvenile delinquency. A panacea cannot be bought by mere monetary appropriations of legislative bodies. Moral training in the home is of primary importance, he emphasized.

One out of every four persons who are convicted of the commission of major crimes are youths or young people, he said. He warned that parents cannot turn the responsibility of their children over to the teachers or the community. Religious training is a basic and indispensable foundation, he reiterated.

A brief business meeting preceded the program.
