'In Doubt, Tell The Truth!'

A Non-Catholic, who was interested in the Church, asked his Catholic friend to take him to Mass one Sunday. From the moment the priest entered the sanctuary, the Non-Catholic began a series of questions.

"What's he doing now?", he asked as the priest began the prayers at the foot of the altar.

His friend explained the "confiteor", the acknowledgement of our sinfulness before God and the heavenly court.

THE QUESTIONS continued as the celebrant read the epistle.

"Catholics use the Bible in their public acts of worship," was the answer.

Came time for the sermon and the pastor mounted the pulpit. He took out a massive watch and placed it on the pulpit. Then he picked it up, put it to his ear, looked at it, and put it back down where he could see it.

"What does that mean?" the Non-Catholic asked.

"I've been a member of this parish for 20 years," the Catholic whispered, "and as far as I can figure out, it doesn't mean a thing. He preaches as long as he wants to, anyway."
