Notre Dame High Notes

By ANN DE MEMBER and BOB LEVANDUSKI

Last Monday and Tuesday evenings the parents of Notre Dame's students met and conferred with the teachers concerning the quarterly exams and report cards.

THE PATRON DRIVE for the "Credo" Notre Dame's yearbook was officially closed last Friday night by a dance in the school gym. Chairman for the "Crystal Ball" as the dance was called, was Bob Gerner. The name was derived from the 24-inch octagonal sphere containing 88 mirrors at which colored lights were aimed. The effect produced accented the cleverly decorated gym. The credit for this innovation in decoration belongs to Mr. Deuel, the school custodian. Piz za and pop were served to a fine crowd.

WEDNESDAY of this week, several baskets of food were taken to the Benedictine Monastery at Mount Savior. The Socially sponsored this project in which all of the classes took part.

THE ART CLUB is staging an exhibit at N. D. On display will be Christmas arrangements, work of master artists, and creative work of the art students. Those students who are working with Sister Mary Jeanne on this project are Sue Cassidy, Pat Flynn, Mary Lou Morse, Pat Kennedy, Joan Flynn, and Mary Lou Snekeder.
