

Parents And The School

By Mary Lennon Snyder

The "Letters to the Editor" department in a recent issue of The Journal which I received, intrigued me. It stated: "Please have pity on the frustration of all the mothers of young intellectuals who combed your Van Dor article for 'Charles' I. Q. What is it?" My first reaction was why "frustration" which I interpret here to mean the "state of being thwarted." Has this mother been frustrated by the school in her attempt to learn her child's I. Q. for many schools, quite wisely, feel that the best interest of the child is served when his I. Q. is classified information; or has she become frustrated because, after having learned her child's I. Q., she feels he, and/or the school, are (or is) not making the most of it?

The whole question points up a problem facing us today. Do we as parents misuse, through misunderstanding, the whole school testing program?

Recently I heard a school Guidance Counsellor explain the testing program in a particular high school. With names carefully concealed, he threw on the screen facsimiles of school record cards, showing all types of tests used and results gained.

I was particularly interested in as we all are, in our children's welfare, would do well to implement such a line of thought in our own sphere of influence, rather than, like the woman letter writer to Time, suffer frustration over I. Q. scores.

We shall best serve our children if we see to it that they work carefully and conscientiously to complete work assignments, studies, and reports, and that they show evidence of becoming honorable, responsible citizens at school.

the area where I. Q. testing was concerned because I have come to know the agonized awe with which some parents regard their children's I. Q.'s.

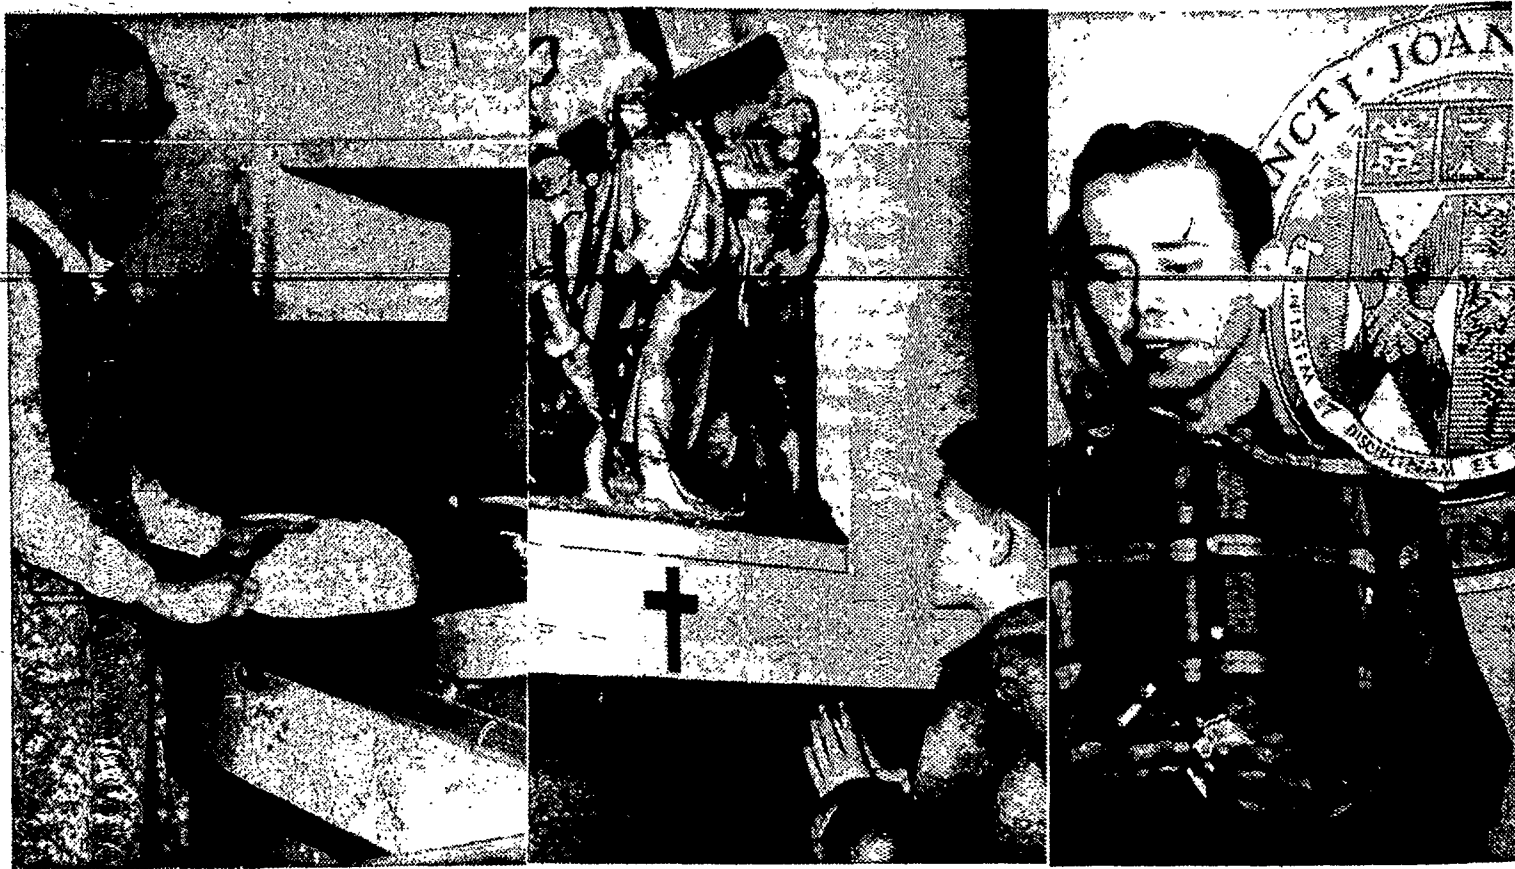

If a parent learns that his child has a high I. Q., he feels Heaven, or at least an Ivy League scholarship, is within his grasp; if the child is known to have a low I. Q., the parents mistakenly believe that such a low rate precludes that anything the child does is "good considering his I. Q."

TALK TO ANY experienced school administrator and he will say there is an intangible something not always measurable that lifts the student from the mediocre into the excellent rating. It may be a will to succeed, or a love of learning, or the inspiration of a good teacher, or the encouragement of an understanding parent, or a combination of two or more of these that gives the student the necessary incentive to put him into the scholarship class.

It is a comforting, yet challenging, thought that one may advance himself by diligence and application in school. It should be particularly so to parents, for their encouragement and, if necessary, insistence on application, they can help their children become better students.

Years ago, our pastor, Father Moriarty in his frequent trips of inspection through the school, used to reiterate a quotation which, as I recall, he attributed to Thomas Edison: Genius is one percent inspiration and ninety-nine percent perspiration.

I THINK WE parents, interested as we all are, in our children's welfare, would do well to implement such a line of thought in our own sphere of influence, rather than, like the woman letter writer to Time, suffer frustration over I. Q. scores.

EXTRA "KP DUTY" cuts down time for viewing television and so "kills two birds with one stone." St. Agnes High School freshman Margaret Whalen takes on the family dishes as one of her Lenten practices. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whalen, 180 French Rd.

DAILY STATIONS of the Cross are encouraged by pastors during the Lenten season. Patrick Allison, fifth grader at St. John the Evangelist School, Burnside St., makes the Stations at St. John's during the noon hour recess. An altar boy, Patrick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allison, 144 Yarmouth Rd.

CIGARETTE BUDGETING is a popular Lenten mortification for the college crowd. Ronald Furstoss, senior business major at St. John Fisher College, is one of many cutting down on smoking. A parishioner of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony F. Furstoss, 279 Keeler St.

'Gimmicks' Accentuate Positive Approach To Lent

"Accentuate the Positive" was a popular song a few years back that may not have carried much of a message in its verse, but was pretty good sense-titles-wise.

There is a positive way of "giving something up for Lent" that affords the same blessings as the old candy-movie-ice-cream routine did and does for the eight year old.

For many, Daily Mass and Holy Communion are impossible, but most everyone can attend evening services during Lent. Since these are the official and special prayers of the Church, they are the best way to prepare for a better Easter.

Along with this, there are some Lenten "gimmicks" that one can make up for himself, depending on his particular circumstances. A few people were willing to let us in on their particular "positive" approach.

ONE YOUNG FATHER, who is the happy but harassed parent of six future acrobats, usually spends about a half hour each night after he comes home from the factory playing with his brood while his wife prepares dinner.

During Lent, this play period is extended by another half hour, and if you have ever carried a half dozen white hammers on your back for 60 minutes, you know what a "positive" Lenten approach this can be.

A young office clerk tells us she has to file between 400 and 500 letters a day in an industrial production office. This is usually a fairly pleasant part of the day—not too much concentration needed and opportunity to "gab" with the girls.

During Lent, she and two fellow clerks make a pact to silently say an ejaculation with each paper filed. By Easter, quite a storehouse of indulgences has been piled up.

The same routine is used by a punch press operator, who can get three Hall Marys said on each piece off his machine that goes into the finishing tray. A middle-aged librarian uses the same gimmick while returning books to the stacks.

A HOUSEWIFE, who has two children in school and through a natural industriousness is able to get her household work done quite early in the day. Lives the telephone a "rest" during Lent. She has found that she hasn't lost a single friend because of this little mortification and has stayed out of more than a few neighborhood squabbles.

Riding to and from work on the bus is ordinarily a pretty dreary waste of time, unless you are one of those extraordinary people who can read while riding.

Two sisters who work in the same office building and travel to work together each day on the bus have an "aspiration game" all their own. Everybody who gets on the bus has a Hall Mary said for him, and every car that passes the bus gets a "My Jesus Mercy."

When we were children, the good Sisters made sure we each gave up something during the Holy Season to better prepare ourselves for the glory of Easter. Candy, movies, ice-cream all took a six-week exile.

AS ADULTS, some people seem to be lost during the Lenten Season when it comes to an idea of mortification. As one woman put it—"But I don't like candy, movies or ice cream any more." The demanded Lenten fasts and abstinence were already required by her diet.

We live in an age of "gimmicks." A little careful soul-searching will uncover some flaw or fable in each of us that might be corrected or erased with a Lenten gimmick. —SMERTT
