Hungary Called 'Prison' By Msgr. Bela Varga

"Hungary is a communist prison camp," according to Monsignor Bela Varga, exiled prelate and political leader of that once independent nation.

Refugees who escaped to the United States and other free nations during Hungary's last October revolt against Kremlin control are "witnesses to the world" that "nobody is happy under communism," the Monsignor said.

He was in Rochester this week to speak Wednesday at Our Lady of Mercy High School under auspices of the Rochester Diocesan Council of Catholic Women.

IN AN INTERVIEW, the Monsignor stated that Russian achievements in nuclear research and airplane development are possible through a world wide spy system which "infiltrates every key spot" to obtain information Moscow officials want.

He said communist officials have a "strangle hold" on the Catholic Church in Hungary, deciding candidates for ordination, attending meetings of bishops, disbanding religious orders except for remnants permitted to remain for "propaganda purposes."

THE MONSIGNOR charged that communists agents have penetrated to key posts in American scientific and governmental life. He sees "no hope" in current attempts to "discuss peace" with Red Russia.

"You can never trust a communist," he said.

He described brutal brain-washing techniques of the communists which, he said, "can break a man in a day."

The Monsignor is a personal friend of Cardinal Mindszenty, Hungarian primate. "I never knew a man who had such strong will power," said Monsignor Varga. The Cardinal resisted communist pressure for thirty days, then exhausted and hollow-eyed he appeared in court to "confess."

Imprisoned and under heavy guard, the Cardinal was finally liberated last October and then fled to the American legation in Budapest where he is now "an exile in his own country."

Monsignor Varga said last October's revolt against Russian domination in Hungary was a "turning point" in the history of communism. The revolt proved that the Reds could not convert a nation which has once had freedom.

Moscow now fears similar revolts in the other satellites, he said.

He blames the Yalta agreement — "the world's greatest mistake" — for "surrendering to Stalin" a hundred million people in Poland, Hungary, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Roumania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and other free nations to Russian control.

The Monsignor was the last freely elected head of the Hungarian Parliament, defeating communist candidate Rakosi. When Russian control was enforced on Hungary Msgr. Varga and other free Hungarian officials escaped to New York City where they conduct their "government in exile."

MONSIGNOR BELA VARGA, former president of the Hungarian Parliament (right), discusses the Hungarian revolt with the Rev .E. Leo McMannus, moderator of the Rochester Council of Catholic Women, sponsor of the lecture given here Wednesday night.

Bishop Kearney Endorses Community Chest Campaign

The 1957 appeal of Rochester Community Chest and the American Red Cross was given the full endorsement of His Excellency Bishop Kearney in a letter read at the Masses in Monroe County area on Sunday, May 5.

The Bishop's letter follows:

My Dear People:

Last week many of our fellow-citizens met to open the annual campaign for our Community Chest and the American Red Cross. These thoughtful people will give generously of their time, energy, and money to make this undertaking of 1957 an outstanding success.

The tragedies that occur daily throughout our country make deep inroads into the funds for relief of the American Red Cross. The Red Cross depends on our generosity if it is to meet these various emergencies.

Our own community needs are well known to you and are well taken care of by the many agencies of the Community Chest whose history is a sound story of public service and accomplishment, whose workers give a personal service that cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

Your Community Chest-Red Cross Campaign eliminates a great volume of individual appeals which would otherwise be spread over the whole year. In one generous gift you share in all of them and that sharing is a high privilege and brings its own blessing.

With a blessing, I am

Your devoted Shepherd in Christ,

+James E. Kearney,
Bishop of Rochester.
