Wayne Deanery Hears Courier-Journal Editor

Wayne Deanery of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women held its First Saturday Luncheon this month at the Wayne Central School.

Monsignor Patrick J. Flynn of Rochester, editor of the Courier-Journal, told the group that the freedom and emancipation enjoyed by modern Christian womanhood is no recently acquired right; but is directly traceable to the dignity which God conferred upon woman at the Incarnation when He chose Mary for the Mother of His Divine Son.

Much is said of the leadership and influence in public places which women have contributed in the last 100 years; but long before women donned W.A.C. WAIVE and SPAR uniforms. Christianity had its Joan of Arc; before modern women entered the Government Departments. Christianity had its St. Catherine of Siena; before women of this country took pen in hand. Christianity had St. Teresa of Avila; and St. Elizabeth of Hungary was both nurse and social worker, turning her thirteenth century castle into hospital and refuge," he related.

Monsignor Flynn urged that Christian women use their divine legacy of dignified liberty to strengthen their spirits as well as their bodies so that they may live better and work harder toward their eternal reward, having left the world better than they found it.

Not on Committee

Due to an error in names submitted on committees for the Monsignor Bela Varga lecture in Rochester, the name of Miss Virginia Bogdan was on the ticket committee. Miss Bogdan said she had not served on that committee.
