The letter was issued in connection with a bill pending

students should be transported in public buses as a matter "of fundamental justice," the Roman Catholic Bishops of Connecticut said in a pastoral letter in the state legislature authorizing municipalities to provide on a local option basis the same bus transportation for non-

The measure was approved by the Senate but the House recomitted it to the Education Committee, an action that appeared to doom the bill for this session of the legislature. However, pro ponents succeeded in obtaining 144 signatures to a petition to force the bill out of committee and have it scheduled for debate.

Signers of the pastoral letter

were Archbishop Henry J.

Should Teenagers Stay Out Partying All Night?

Our Lady of Mercy High School has urged parents of its Senior and Junior students to curh the late-hour partying which follows spring high school dances. Asking for a definite curfew, a letter signed by Rev. Richard Tormey chaplain and Mother Mary Francesca, principal, warns parents that the thoughtless exhilaration of the prom night endangers moral and physical safety.

The COURIER JOURNAL asked Father Tormey to enlarge upon the reasons behind this school action in the hope that other parents and other schools might benefit from a discussion of a widespreading problem.

By REV. RICHARD TORMEY MERCY HIGH SCHOOL CHAPLAIN

The evening of the Junior Prom or the Senior Ball or Graduation Dance is the "big night" of high school life! Anticipation of glamorous joys and freedoms to do things never done on other dancing evenings put high-schoolers in a frenzy of planning weeks in advance.

In a great many cities and towns there is a growing custom that students must celebrate their final dance by "staying out all ni ..t." Not just till 2 or 3 in the morning, but literally till after breakfast, around 4 or 5

This A.M. partying can lead to tragic and shameful results. For it is precisely the exuberance of the big evening and the thoughtless intention to do the rare and the unusual which pushes aside the ordinary standards of social and moral propriety.

Youth on a fling, without curlew or parental restrictions, can find a dozen unintended rash ways to endanger reputation, morals and physical matety. Young people can be intelligent and decent and still be swept along by the crowd when the mood of all is high and un-
