WE MIGHT suggest to those organizations which have had their last business meeting for the season that the Enthronement Project be planned during the family to the Sacred Heart the summer months and that the project be introduced at the first autumn meetings.

As Mrs. Culhane points out in her bulletin to deanery chairmen, recommended practices for fam-"We have chosen the Enthrone illes which have enthroned the ment of the Sacred Heart in the Sacred Heart in their home. home because it seems to fill such a great need today. We must sanctify the family and sanctify society. Today many things make it more difficult for the home to be what God intended it to be, namely a holy and sacred place."

Then after listing some of the forces militating against a good home life, the diocesan chairmen continues, "So the special graces and blessings of the Sacred Heart are needed more than ever."

The National Center of the En thronement is listed as that of tile Fathers of the Sacred Hearts, Washington, D. C., and I assume that the mimeographed instructions which Mrs. Culhane sent to me were prepared under their direction. The actual on thronement ceressiony is a very beautiful one and is conducted in the home have a suitable to the home and the suitable to the home and the suitable to the in the home by a priest.

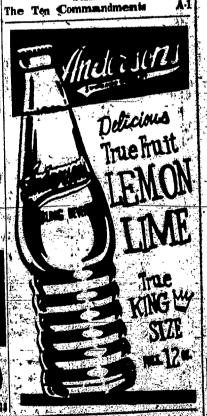

Obtain a picture or statue of he Sacred Heart. This should be as beautiful as possible; 2. Decide where in the home it will place of prominence; 3. Below he place of enthronement litar or throne should be placed. This will be a table covered with
