

Modesty In Dress

By Mary Louann Snyder

It is a sad comment on our way of life that the "Fast Track" of the modern woman's dress is so short that it is almost impossible to select an appropriate subject for current commentary on the "fashion" of the modern woman's dress. It is a sad comment on our way of life that the "Fast Track" of the modern woman's dress is so short that it is almost impossible to select an appropriate subject for current commentary on the "fashion" of the modern woman's dress.

Continuing, the author points out that girls are quite naturally eager to attract attention, but that they do not seem to realize that they are "attracting the wrong kind of attention, and sometimes a dangerous kind of attention."

"Mothers seem not to realize this fact. On any summer day—just at almost any time of the year, you can see women of all ages with deep-cut dresses, with necklines, with very brief shorts, as though they were the accepted wear for the street."

"As The Advocate pointed out, sex neither does nor results in, but moral sin, the murderer of the soul, does frequently result in the loss of the virtue of purity to many of the girls themselves."

"Since some mothers are almost partners to the crime it falls upon the fathers to stop this open exposure of the female form. Let them assert the authority that is theirs in the home; let them maintain a closer supervision over the comings and goings of their daughters and sons."

"ACKNOWLEDGING that a paternal discipline will not solve all the problems the writer believes, 'The fathers must solve the problem of their own homes, and it is one they must solve, to protect their own children, to protect their neighbor's children from more sex murders.'"

"Another statement of this challenge to the fathers was made in the parish bulletin of St. Mary's Church, Elmira in the issue of July 21, 1957, wherein we read:

"The study of the human mind is always fascinating, but just cannot figure the thought processes that on one day (Sunday) prompt a person to dress as he does a visit to God, and on another day (Saturday) convince them that 'beach wear' is appropriate in Church.

"Let us state quite clearly that it is not. But it seems futile to even make the statement, because it fails to convince those usually stalwart spiritual towers, the mothers. They cannot understand why their daughters are not just as 'cute' in their over-exposed summer outfits as they are in their Sunday finery.
