Six Weeks in Europe

This is the final article of a series describing a recently completed European pilgrimage made by the Courier-Journal's assistant editor. A subsequent article will describe a pilgrimage tour to Ireland led by Our Lady of Mercy pastor, Father Michael P. O'Brien.

By REV. HENRY ATWELL

Lourdes will soon be a hundred years old. Not the village with its nestles in a valley of the snow clad Pyrenees under the shadow of its ancient castle for that village is 19 centuries old. The Lourdes that is 100 years young came into being February 11, 1858 at the black case of Massabielle made radiant by the apparition of Our Lady, the Immaculate Queen of Heaven.

LOURDES TODAY ranks with Jerusalem and Rome as one of the world's great religious centers but the mere fascination of a past event is not enough to explain its greatness. Lourdes continues to attract its thousands because an instinct which only experience can describe says that the Visitor is still there unseen but present.

We caught His spirit of Lourdes in a brief barely 24 hours of blissful shrine. A night train from Paris brought us to the City of Our Lady in time for a late morning Mass I was privileged to celebrate Mass at the main altar of the vast Rosary Basilica at the foot of the older and soaring Basilica on the hillside above Massabielle. Kneeling for Communion the people as varied as a pantomime, the rich and poor, the casual tourist and the pious pilgrim. The sick of course had received Communion in special Masses celebrated earlier for them.

Just before the Mass, I had the opportunity to bathe in the waters of the spring where so many before had stepped with diseases defying scientific cure and then come from these waters cured.

In the afternoon, as every afternoon at Mass, I sat in the square in front of the Basilica the "pathetic" afflicted of every age and every nation met for the blessing of their Eucharistic Lord. A long procession with its parish banners waving in the brisk breeze represented a dozen group from Liege of Belgium. Two by two waiting for the pulsing prelate to bless each anointed body with the Blessed sacrament.

There was no hysteria nor fanaticism and while the prelate was over and all the sickness remained, we realized that the greatest miracle at Lourdes is the faith of those who are not cured.

Saturday night it seemed as if an interminable line of the sick had passed down the stairs on us as we waited for the anointed procession. In a storm kept service in the great indoor basilica, the lower and upper churches were filled with the prayers of the pilgrims.

SUNDAY MORNING Masses were scheduled to say Mass of the Spirit, which meant the sacred rite of the Holy Spirit was celebrated. The first Mass was at 7:00 a.m. and the last at 10:00 p.m. The Lourdes pilgrimage is a unique event in the history of the Church. It is a pilgrimage of faith, hope and charity. It is a pilgrimage of love and mercy. It is a pilgrimage of peace and harmony.

Today, Lourdes is a city of 10,000 people. It is a city of prayer and devotion. It is a city of hope and faith. It is a city of love and mercy. It is a city of peace and harmony. It is a city of the Holy Spirit.

AFTER OUR VISIT to Lourdes, we returned to the city of Goodridge, Minn. At the Goodridge, Minn. church, a Mass was celebrated by a Belgian prelate at the same time for us to have Bernadette described the vision of our Lady. She stated at every one. At Lourdes you know. My sister, Sister from the 20th of Massabielle and her smile speaks leading and pardon for all God's children.

'Never Too Old' Server Marks 71st Birthday

Goodridge, Minn. (NC) — The "oldest altar boy" in the Crookston diocese this month is celebrating his 71th anniversary as a Mass server.

He is Matthew A. Mutnansky, stationed about moving the mission church in Goodridge, Minn. who said he intends to keep serving Mass just as long as he is able.

He did so well that Father Weber stopped bringing his own Mass. Mutnansky's ambition was denied. In before Matt Mutnansky not only the area of Slovakia where he had the movements down pat, was reared until he was 12, that but also the responses, privilege was reserved to the sons of some of the nobility.

He came to the United States in 1900 and in 1947, at the age of 47, Matt Mutnansky got his chance.

Usually priests who came to the mission church in Goodridge, from Thief River Falls to offer Mass brought their own server along. But there was the day when Father Leonard Weber came alone unable to find a server to accompany him. Matt Mutnansky was the one who answered the call. "You're never too old to serve."
