Catholic Groups Bequeathed Thousands By Miss Brady

Eight charities and religious groups and priests will share in $22,500 under the terms of the will of Miss Anne V. Brady, 90, admitted to probate by Surrogate Michael L. Rogers, Monday.

Miss Brady died Dec. 9, 1957. She had resided at Powers Hotel since her retirement after serving 19 years as a member of the nursing staff of Craig Colony in Sonyea.

After legacies totaling $64,500 including $42,000 to relatives, the remainder of the estate will go to the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

To Father Flanagan's Boys Home in Boys Town, Neb., Miss Brady willed $5,000.

She also bequeathed $5,000 each to the Maryknoll Fathers of Maryknoll, N. Y.; to the Most Rev. James E. Kearney, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Rochester, and to the Rev. Alphonsus P. Crimmens of Canandaigua, pastor of St. Mary's Church of that city, listed as a friend. The legacy to the Bishop was with the request that it "be used in such manner and for such purposes as he deems best."

MISS BRADY bequeathed $1,000 to St. Ann's Home for the Aged of Rochester; $500 to St. Mary's Church of Kingston, Ont., and $500 each for Masses to the pastors of two Rochester churches, St. Joseph's and Immaculate Conception.

Miss Brady was formerly a Rochester piano teacher. She was a native of Kingston, Ont. She was a sister of Dr. James J. Brady, Rochester physician, who died in 1927, and of John J. Brady, an E. W. Edwards & Son salesman, who died in 1936.

Joseph McSweeney is attorney for the estate and executor under the will, drawn in 1952.
