German, Poles Protest Red Ban On Press

Warsaw — (RNS) — A stir was created in the Polish parliament here when a Roman Catholic member complained of difficulties in publishing and distributing Catholic periodicals in this country.

The charge that Catholic periodicals are being hampered was made by Antoni Gladysz, who cited the case of Rycerz Niepokalana (Knight of the Immaculate Virgin), a Franciscan periodical which was forced to suspend during the former Stalinist era when its paper allotments were withdrawn.

The Franciscan journal was formerly one of the most popular religious publications in Poland, with a circulation of more than one million.

Before the war, there were 329 Catholic publications in Poland. Of these seven weeklies and 19 monthlies were especially important.

Bill Would Prohibit Late Night Shows

Providence, R.I. — (RNS) — A bill which would prohibit any movie or stage production from starting after 10 p.m., except by permission of local licensing authorities, was introduced in the Senate here.

Sen. Primo Jacobucci of Providence, sponsor of the measure, said he was prompted by a local advertisement of a midnight "horror" film in a local newspaper. He read the full text of the ad to the Senate, emphasizing that it stated that boys attending the movie would receive a free picture of Marilyn Monroe and girl's one of Elvis Presley.

"We are talking so much and reading so much about juvenile delinquency, if there is any one thing that would contribute more to juvenile delinquency in our state, it is this kind of trash," he said.

Dimie Banking Notes Gain

The 1958 outlook for savings and the availability of home loans appear more favorable than during 1957, according to Fred W. Frith, president of the Dimie Banking and Loan Association.

This, combined with signs of an upturn in family formations, presents a stronger demand for home loans he stated in his annual customers' statement.

Despite problems of tight money, that plagued many financial institutions in 1957, the association achieved gains in assets, savings, home mortgage portfolio and customers, Frith said.
