Notre Dame High Notes

By TONETTE TOTA and PATRICK SAXE

The '58 school activities of Notre Dame High School, Elmira, is to encourage creative writing and to take active part in the calendar was lined up last week by the Student Council. Such spectaculars as a "Sweetheart Swing" and a St. Patrick's Day Assembly are in the offing.

The "Sweetheart Swing" sponsored by the freshman and sophomore classes will be held Tuesday Feb. 11, from 8:30 to 11:30 with music by the Melodiers. Sally Bowers heads the refreshment committee while Geraldine Christofaro is in charge of tickets. The gym will be decorated by Patricia Rogers, chairman. Rose Milliken, co-chairman with a group of volunteers. Joseph Kelly and Richard Crowley will manage the checking.

The Postscripts, a newly formed writers' group, has come in to being through the efforts and interest of hard working freshmen. Moderated by Sister Marie Raymond, the club was open to all those who obtained above 90% in English in the January exams.

The purpose of the Postscripts is to encourage creative writing and to take active part in the many available contests of that nature. At their first meeting the following officers were elected, chairman Robert Griffin who already has had an essay published in Young America Speaks, the National High School Essay Anthology and is school winner in the Optimist Oratorials; secretary Kathleen Moran; secretary of attendance, Patrick Agan. "The pen is mightier than the sword" is their password.

The results of the mid-year exams showed several perfect marks among the students. Jerome Coffey brought home a 100 in Trig regents. Eve Metro and Janice Maystar, did likewise in intermediate algebra test. Similar per cents were earned by Sharon Thompson in general math and Jon Bauer, Edward Delaney and Kathleen Hoffauer in algebra. Dan Dean in French I and Julie Loughlin in biology received perfect marks.

In religion, nine seniors, fifteen juniors, one soph and one frosh earned 100's.

Missionary Apostolate Explained To Women's Unit

Hornell [illegible] Missionary Apostolate was traced by the Rev. Raymond Wetter, administrator of St. Brendan Church, Almond, in his talk at the First Saturday luncheon of the Town [illegible] Wood Feb. 1.

Father Wetter [illegible] people of prayer, adaptation [illegible] Jesus to God's Will in [illegible] Faith and humility in the [illegible] of Our Lady of Fatima [illegible] of Mary who termed [illegible] was sponsored [illegible] the handmaid of the Lord.

The Rev. James [illegible] since has become [illegible] densburg and [illegible] ing out of heavily [illegible] diocesan established [illegible] sionary parishes [illegible] tauqua County. In [illegible] years, 17 rural [illegible] been established in Genesee, Chautauqua, Wyoming, Cattaraugus and Allegany Counties.

Almond has a typical Missionary Apostolate parish. It was begun in 1949 with the Rev. Francis O'Connor assigned as the first administrator.

In Almond as in all Missionary Apostolate parishes, [illegible] ordained priests are assigned as administrators for a period of a year. Father Wetter explained.

MASS FIRST was celebrated in a barn in Almond then in the Grange Hall and later in the newly built little church. Now the parish hopes to acquire a house suitable for a rectory within the next few weeks.

Spiritual progress equalled the physical advances, Father Wetter said. Presently there are 90 families who belong to St. Brendan's parish. Catechetical instruction is given to the children, most of whom attend Alfred-Almond Central School, by three of the Missionary Sisters of the Divine Child who come to Almond from their convent in Belmont. Young to the church by a parishioner, sisters are transported from school bus.

Father Wetter added that Alabama and North Carolina are studying the Missionary Apostolate plan in the Buffalo Diocese with the intention of adopting it in rural areas within those states.

He concluded by expressing gratitude to the "generous and understanding" persons and merchants of Hornell for their support of parish functions.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Lawrence W. Gannon, V.F., moderator of the Steuben Deanery, continued his discussion on bases in the life of the Blessed Mother of Christ. He advised the women
