

'Project Selma' Launched By St. Agnes Freshmen

Mission minded. Freshmen in homeroom 311 at St. Agnes High School have launched their "Project Selma."

During a guidance period conducted by their homeroom proctor, Sister Muriel, the girls were discussing hobbies, and their importance in everyday life. When suggestions were called for, they were many and varied. Popular hobbies ranged from sports of all types to handiwork.

BEVERLY VASSALLO offered the idea to develop not only new hobbies but help the missions as well. "Project Selma" was started. Under the direction of their mission leader, Andrea Wollensak, the girls decided to make objects for the missions on their own time.

The deadline was set for the day Christmas vacation began. Dolls, candles, baby booties and hats, aprons and handmade toys of all types began coming in by the dozen.

As a result of this project, many children in the Sisters' of St. Joseph Mission headquarters in Selma, Alabama will be much happier. For the girls, Bernaine Scheg said, "It was fun doing something to help these poor children."

Children Admire Wrong Heroes Says Educator

Chicheston — (NC) — Children's minds are "filled with the wrong kind of heroes," a Catholic educator warned here. He observed: "Ted Kuzewski is honored much more than Jonas Salk."

Dr. Donald B. King, at Mount St. Joseph College, declared that "you cannot persuade youngsters to treat school work seriously if all their heroes are athletes, entertainers and businessmen."

Many of these "heroes," Dr. King admitted, "are very fine people." But he added that "when very little attention is paid to the intellectual heroes of our society, children naturally get the idea that academic work is relatively unimportant."

Calling parents' attitudes toward intellectual achievement the most important single factor in their children's attitudes, Dr. King deplored the practice of "halting more about a child's success on the school teams than his success in school studies."

Daily Mass League Opens Campaign For Members

By ARTHUR PARREN

Widespread efforts to promote greater interest in and attendance at weekday Mass is the aim of a Crusade undertaken this week by the Daily Mass League with the approval of His Excellency Bishop Kearney.

The Crusade comes at a time when there will be more frequent attendance at the Holy Sacrifice during Lent, with many parishes adding evening Masses to their weekday schedule.

Principal aim of the Crusade is to foster increased appreciation of the Mass and to enlarge Daily Mass League membership, now at a record 3,900 persons.

Benefits of the Mass—including extensive indulgences granted recently by Pope Pius XII to Catholics of the Rochester Diocese for enrollment in the League—will be stressed in literature to be made available to parishes throughout the diocese.

Placards urging League membership will be distributed for display in church vestibules. They will contain two pocket-size leaflets for literature describing the league, the other with membership application cards.

THE LEAGUE also announced the availability of speakers for parish groups desiring talks on the Mass and the league.

League promoters have been named in many diocesan parishes. Effort will be made during the Crusade to establish promoters in parishes where there now is none.

Headquarters of the Daily Mass League is at Our Lady of Victory Church, 10 Pleasant St., Rochester 4. There are no dues, meetings, officers or promises. Persons desiring membership merely address their request to the Daily Mass League at the Pleasant Street address.

Pointing out that "the Mass is the highest form of worship man can give to God," the Rev. Edward P. Callens, S.S.C.C., pastor of Our Lady of Victory Church and spiritual director of the League, declared this week:

"Mass offers a great privilege and opportunity to join with Christ in the renewed sacrifice of Calvary. Its merits are infinite in value. Multiple blessings await those who aid in promoting appreciation of the Holy Sacrifice."

THE LEAGUE is grateful. Father Callens said, to the Catholic Courier Journal for assisting the Crusade by its current publication of a series of articles on the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

First organized in 1931, the League was established last May as an officially recognized organization of the Rochester Diocese. For a practicing Catholic there is only one requirement for membership: "the genuine desire to attend Holy Mass daily in such a manner that it fosters within ourselves a greater devotion to the most Holy Sacrifice."

Father Callens pointed out that if a person (even a shut-in) has a "genuine desire" to attend Mass daily, but is unable to do so because of particular circumstances, he or she still is eligible for membership in the League.

"Under normal conditions," he said, "a person's genuine desire to attend daily Mass will result in more frequent attendance than formerly, and will bring about also a greater devotion to and promotion of the Mass—thus are the purposes of the League validated."

He also called attention to the indulgences granted by the Holy Father to League enrollees. They include:

A PENALTY INDULGENCE to persons on the day of their reception into the League, and at the hour of death; and a one-month plenary to members who at-
