Annual Nocturnal Breakfast

Bishop Lauds Adoration Men

Bishop Kearney told members of the Nocturnal Adoration Society that it was "probably through their monthly adoration to the Blessed Sacrament that resulted in the increased devotion to the Holy Eucharist and great increase of the reception of Holy Communion."

Bishop Kearney was the guest speaker at the annual Communion Breakfast of the society, held last Sunday at the Bausch & Lomb cafeteria, St. Paul St.

NOCTURNAL members had previously received Communion at the Adoration centers of Sacred Heart Cathedral, Blessed Sacrament, St. Monica's and St. Andrew's Churches.

Guests of honor at the breakfast were Bishop Lawrence B. Casey, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas E. Connors, George W. Eckl and Gerald C. Lambert, Rev. Leo C. Mooney and Carl S. Hallauer, president of Bausch & Lomb.

Bishop Kearney said that the Nocturnal Adoration Society "is a unique organization." He said that its title displays its character and the Bishop also traced the history of the "Silence in the Night" tradition that the society has adopted.

"We first find this tradition in the conception of the Christ Child in the darkness of the night," Bishop Kearney said. "This is continued in the birth of the Child when the Angels announced to the shepherds the birth of the Child in the night-time."

FOLLOWING THIS trend of thought His Excellency told the crowd of 1200 men that "Christ retired at night to communicate with His Father. It was also at night when Christ suffered in the Garden of Gethsemane."

"At the time Christ died, the earth turned into a darkness as deep as the night, even though it was a bright Spring day only minutes before," the Bishop related, "which gave dignity and importance to the things of night."

"It is also night that sin is associated with," he added. "But it is men who worship in silence at night that offer reparation for the sins that are being committed while you pray."

"It is at night that you men establish the close contact to God, with your soul communing with God's soul. The very fact that you disregard the hardships involved in making this monthly meeting with God shows that it is not alone personal reparation but a worldwide act of reparation for the sins of mankind."

BISHOP KEARNEY also told the men that the Church worship is no longer a day time proposition. Through the economic necessities and through man's inventions, Pope Pius XII was able to schedule evening Masses and increased devotion at night.

"It is up to you men to pray for those who will not pray for themselves," Bishop Kearney concluded. "By doing this, you are fulfilling the command of God to 'Love thy God with thy whole heart thy whole soul and thy whole mind and to love thy neighbor as thyself.'"

Chairman for the breakfast was Robert H. Kalb. He was assisted by members of the central committee, headed by Joseph W. Reim, executive secretary.

The Bishop concluded the breakfast with Benediction.

First Friday Club Slates Moderator

Rev. E. Leo McManus of St. Bernard Seminary faculty will address men of the First Friday Luncheon Club, Good Friday, April 4 in Hotel Sherman, according to Joseph J. Attinasi, chairman of the Knights of Columbus sponsoring Committee.

Father McManus

Father McManus is club moderator and chaplain of Rochester Council, Knights of Columbus. He is also moderator of the Rochester Diocesan Council, National Council of Catholic Women.

Any Catholic layman who will receive Holy Communion on Good Friday will be eligible to attend the luncheon according to Grand Knight Frank J. Thomas of the K. of C.

VISUALIZING a new church edifice to replace the fire-ravaged St. Boniface Church are the Rev. Walter J. Kohl, pastor, and Frank A. Schenk, prominent parishioner.

St. Boniface Plans Traditional Church

The new St. Boniface Church to rise on the site of the fire wrecked edifice on Gregory St., Rochester, will be "traditional" in style, Father Walter Kohl announced today.

Architect Joseph P. Flynn is currently at work drawing up plans for the proposed church.

CONSTRUCTION will begin as soon as the ruins of the old church can be removed, he said.

Men of the parish at a meeting last Wednesday looked over pictures of churches recently constructed in various styles throughout the country.

Father Kohl said the majority favored what architects term "modified Gothic" as the style for the new St. Boniface.

The new church will cost an estimated $350,000. Demolition of the old structure, ruined by a disastrous fire last November, will cost an additional $20,000.

The pastor said there will be no new campaign to pay for the new construction.

St. Boniface parishioners conducted a fund drive earlier last year to renovate the historic south Rochester landmark.

preparation for the parish convened in 1959.

"If we have 100 per cent results from that campaign and generous help from the newcomers to our parish, we can have our new church," Father Kohl said. He also said the construction costs would put the parish about $100,000 in debt.

Next First Saturday Luncheon Set May 3

No First Saturday Luncheon will be held April 5 because of the date being Holy Saturday, according to Monroe County Council of Catholic Women sponsors.

St. Monica Sodality of Holy Trinity Church, Webster, will sponsor the next luncheon on May 3.

Eastern Rite Service Listed At Mercy High

Holy Mass will be celebrated in the Byzantine Rite with the liturgy of St. John Chrysostom on Tuesday, April 1 for the student body of Our Lady of Mercy High School.

Celebrant will be the Rev. Paul Malleux, S.J., superior of the Russian Center at Fordham University, New York City, newly arrived in this country from France and visiting here at the request of the Rev. Richard Torrey, Mercy High chaplain.

FATHER MALLEUX will also visit McQuaid Jesuit High School on Tuesday.

He will speak to the Mercy High student body; Monday afternoon about the Church in Silence.

The Mercy students will receive Holy Communion at the Mass under both species as practiced in Eastern Rites of the Catholic Church. A particle of the Sacred Host is immersed with the Precious Blood and dropped into the mouth from a spoon. Those receiving do so standing. Prayers and hymns at the Mass are in English.

The Holy Week visit of the Eastern Rite priest was arranged after the snow storm cancelled his previous engagement to visit Mercy High School.

TAKING PART in Nocturnal Adoration Society Communion Breakfast, Sunday at Bausch and Lomb cafeteria are: (from right) His Excellency, Auxiliary Bishop Casey and Robert H. Kalb, chairman.
