DOINGS AT THE DALY'S Conjugal or Kinship

By Mary Tinley Daly... The special delivery, air mail letter from Eileen in Bristol came some months ago:

'Dear Ma and Daddy,' it read, 'Tony and I are going to have a baby. Isn't it wonderful? We are so thrilled...'

According to the sociologists, Eileen and Tony and the new baby are a "conjugal family" (husband, wife and children).

WHICH IS better, conjugal or kinship? It's a nice question, and one which can be answered only by the young people involved.

They are still on their own, making their way as a family unit in a community other than that in which the childhood home is located.

As for Eileen and Tony, the "conjugal family" far away; they are in the same position the Head of the House and I were in a quarter-century ago.

Now, for the first time, we realize the pleasure that our mid-west family must have derived from sending on a few things for the baby.

With four grandchildren already, we are not unfamiliar with the baby departments of the greatest compliment we could pay a teenage driver would be to say he drives like a veteran.

MENTAL and emotional maturity cannot be achieved by living a long time or driving a long while. It is a state wherein the individual recognizes himself as a responsible person.

As someone once pointed out in a clever essay the greatest person is to tell him he is something he is not.

A Game Of Chance

An elderly man of my acquaintance used to remark much to his wife's annoyance, "If I were a young man looking for a wife, I would maneuver the girl of my choice into a game of cards."

While a card game may be a good proving ground of character, it seems to me that an almost better spot in our modern world is behind the driver's wheel of an automobile.

This has been particularly true in these past few months when driving conditions have been particularly trying.
