

St. Joseph Nuns Mark Feast Day

Admiral Holloway
Vatican City—(RNS)—Vice Admiral James L. Holloway Jr.,
commander of U.S. Naval Forces in the Mediterranean, was received in audience by Pope Plus

The patronal feast of the Sisters of Saint Joseph was solemnly celebrated at Nazareth Motherhouse, Pittsford, on March 19.

A total of 673 Sisters of St. Joseph from all parts of the diocese and more than 100 priests were present at the Pontifical Mass offered by His Excellency, Bishop Casey.

His Excellency, Bishop Kearney presided at the throne and delivered the sermon. He told the assembly that "in gathering on this occasion the sentiment of thanksgiving is prominent in the hearts of all of us—gratitude to Saint Joseph for the blessings brought by him to the community and gratitude to the Sisters for their work in the diocese.

"But in our program of Catholic life," the Bishop continued, "we can never pause very long to look back upon the past, for the challenge of the future and the impressive demands of the present are always upon us."

INTO THAT picture Saint Joseph enters very prominently, he affirmed, first as Patron of a Happy Death, that he will protect and guide us through the days of our life so as to bring us the consolation at the last hour of having worked always with a strong desire to please our Divine Lord; secondly, as the Saint of things that seem impossible, that he will give us courage to face the problems ahead.

THE BISHOP stressed the title "Saint of the Impossible" which is given to Saint Joseph because of the prayer Holy Mother Church has placed in the Mass for his feast. "The Sister of Saint Joseph," he concluded, "can get great inspiration for her work day after day from that prayer—it may seem impossible to me, but Saint Joseph's powerful intercession can accomplish anything."

Bishop Casey was assisted by assistant priest, Monsignor John E. Marney; deacon, Rev. Albert H. Schneck; subdeacon, Rev. William H. Shannon, Chaplains to Bishop Kearney, were Monsignor Leslie G. Whalen and Monsignor John T. McCafferty.

More than 200 Sisters sang the proper of the Mass for the Feast of Saint Joseph and the ordinary in polyphony as arranged by Sister Floriani. Father Hanna's arrangement of Te Joseph Celebrant was sung as Supplementary Offertory, and the majestic Hall, Holy Joseph, Hall as recessional.

Fashion Show Set By Guild Members

Preliminary plans are being made for the Holy Angels Guild Summer Fashion Show, May 5 at Manger Hotel ballroom.

Guild members and their friends are being asked by committee in charge to keep the date open "as the fashion show is to be one of the big fund raising projects of the year."

Airline Girls Boycott Offensive Magazines

Dublin—(RNS)—Aer Lingus (Irish Airlines) ground hostesses at Shannon Airport refused on moral grounds to handle a consignment of an American servicemen's magazine intended for distribution to American troops en route to Germany.

The magazine carried four pictures of a Hollywood actress which the Aer Lingus girls considered to be in bad taste.

Annual Holy Week Retreat

Nazareth Academy students will begin their annual Holy Week retreat on March 31. Seniors will be under the direction of Rev. Joseph Bernier, S.S.S., and underclassmen will be under Rev. Herman Brinkmann, C.S.S.R. His Excellency Bishop Kearney will close the retreat April 2.

FATHER BERNIER, from St. John Baptist Church New York City, has given two previous retreats at Nazareth. A founder and national director of the Catholic Youth Advancement Society, Father has had close contact with young people and is familiar with their problems.

Father Brinkmann, from Buffalo, has given retreats at Blessed Sacrament, St. Andrew's and Holy Cross churches in Rochester.

The retreat schedule will follow the pattern of previous years with daily Mass followed by conferences, reflection, spiritual reading and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Father Charles Connell, chaplain, has urged students to spend the three days in prayerful and thoughtful silence, explaining that every retreat is unique in that the particular graces received in one have never been offered before and will never come again.

Silence will be the keynote at a Holy Week retreat that will be conducted for the students of St. Agnes High School on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Rev. John LeVeque, school chaplain, said that Rev. James J. Redmond S.J. of the Jesuit Mission Board, and Father Joseph L. Hogan, STD, of St. Bernard's Seminary, will conduct the lectures and spiritual exercises.

Father LeVeque urged the students to maintain silence, since it is an important element in making a good retreat.
