Final Week For McFarlin Model Rocket Contest
 McFarlin's Build-a-Model Rocket Contest has gone into its final week with approximately 70 entrants. The competition is open to all boys from 9 through 14, and entries must be submitted to the Boy's World Department, third floor, no later than April 7. Entry blanks and contest rules are still available at the store. Judging will take place at 2:30 p.m., April 12, with several members of the Armed Forces serving as judges. A coke party for contestants and their parents and friends will follow the awarding of prizes.

MEMBERS OF St. Agnes High School's Homemaking Department surprised their fellow students last Friday by coming to school in their own designed creations, such as the one modeled here by Patricia Goodbody. It was all a part of a special Easter Parade put on by the department, which is under the direction of Sister Teresa Edward.

Dress Designers St. Agnes Students Have Easter Parade Preview

A surprise Easter Parade Review was given in the hall of St. Agnes High School last Friday. Longer than most, this one began at 8:30 a.m., finishing at 2:30 in the afternoon. Its route took the marchers from English to Math, to study hall, to lunch, all through the busy hours of the school day, for the participants were the students of the Homemaking Department who were modeling their own creations, the work of the past four weeks. Trips, waists, suits, fashionable chemises, and even a sack or two were to be seen among the styles chosen by the students and made with masterful care under the guidance of Sister Teresa Edward, head of the Homemaking Department at St. Agnes.

Nine other students, all members of the sophomore class at St. Agnes will also have their designs published. They are Mary Ann Blazes, Anne Eckl, Janet Estephan, Kathleen McNamara, Marilyn Oeschger, Marianne Scrofano, Joyce Smith, Monica Weis and Joanne Myers.

Academy Seniors Will Visit Nation's Capital

About 100 seniors of Nazareth Academy will hold their annual prom at the Collegiate Club, D.C., during the Easter vacation, April 11, from 9 to 12. Carl Dergler and his Debonairs will play. Patricia Graus, general chairman, is in charge, assisted by Mary Lou Caverly, decorations; Janet De Vonis, publicity; Yolanda Abascalano, special arrangements; Mary Jane Jardine, checking; Judith Adamski, tickets; Margaret Boley, refreshments, and Patricia Streb, cleanup.

This year the theme, suggested by Mary Ann Graus, will be carried out in Spring scenes done in delicate pastels. A feature of the evening will be the crowning of a king and queen who will be selected by drawing of tickets.

The Juniors sponsor the prom annually to help finance The Gabriel, the school newspaper.

Insurance Man Leaves Money To Church

Ten religious and charitable institutions will share as beneficiaries in the will of William R. Punch, Rochester insurance man, who died Feb. 11, 1958 according to the will admitted to probate by Surrogate Michael L. Rogers.

Niagara Grads Give To School

Rochester area graduates of Niagara University contributed $80,126 that helped the school to go over its current one million dollar building fund campaign by $20,861.

Very Rev. Vincent T. Swords, C.M., university president, said that the pledges were made "despite innumerable obstacles and difficulties. The loyalty of the alumni and the generous sacrifices of the townspeople of Niagara Falls have put us over the top," he added.

The Rochester alumni contributed the third highest total of any alumni group, being topped by Niagara Falls, with $91,263.33 and Albany with $78,560.

Insurance Man Leaves Money To Church

The estate is believed to exceed half a million dollars.

Catholic institutions included in the will are:

St. Bernard Seminary, given $30,000 in memory of Mr. Punch's parents, John W. and Mary T. Punch, and his brother, Frederick R. Punch and the latter's wife, St. Anne's Home, bequeathed $20,000.

St. Mary's Hospital, given $10,000 to endow two rooms.

Blessed Sacrament Church receives $5,000 in memory of his parents and an additional $500 for Masses.

Society for the Propagation of the Faith, $5,000 for Masses.

St. Bridget Church given $1,000.

Holy Sepulchre Cemetery given $9,000 in trust with income for the care of the Punch family lot, and an additional outright bequest of $2,500 for "perpetual care" of the Tobin lot.

Also Rochester Community Chest is bequeathed the income from a $10,000 trust to be known as the "William R. Punch Gift."

St. John Fisher College and Nazareth College share with Pauline D. Fingler, 300 Conkey Ave., Mr. Punch's office secretary who received a trust fund of $200,000, in the residuary estate after specific bequests.

Other friends and relatives were named in the will. Security Trust Co. is executor and trustee. George J. Skivington is attorney for the estate.
