

Steuben Deanery Hear Catholic Action Talk

Hornell — Catholic Action — the help the layman can give to the priest in carrying out the work of the Church — was discussed by the Rev. Vincent P. Collins April 17.

Father Collins, assistant pastor of St. Ann's Church, was guest panelist at a meeting of the Steuben Deanery, Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, in the Pine Room of St. Ann's School. Thirty representatives of the four affiliated Catholic women's organizations in Hornell attended the special meeting.

The program was presented by the organization and development committee of the Steuben Deanery with Mrs. Raymond Moretti as chairman and moderator. Members of the panel were Mrs. Kingdon Hammond, Mrs. Charles Weber, Mrs. Lawrence Flansburg and Mrs. Richard Wheeler.

THE WORK of the church, in which the layman can participate most effectively is in the fields of teaching and sanctifying. Father Collins told the group. He explained the advantages the layman has in his daily contacts with persons whom the priest would not meet in the ordinary course of events. The layman then can be of further assistance by referring cases to the priest.

Encouraging persons to take advantage of the Sacraments in another practical manner, in which the layman can contribute to the work of sanctification.

In a strictly spiritual sense, he can add to the spiritual reservoir of the Mystical Body of the Church by offering his sufferings in union with Christ—thereby participating in the sacrificial life of Christ, Father Collins said.

"There is one field of Catholic Action in which each of us can excel — personal sanctification," he continued.

"If we determine to do God's Will every moment of every day we will become an instrument of God. He then will work through us—which is sublime Catholic Action."

"Seek personal perfection and let God use you as He wishes," Father Collins concluded.

THE PANEL further discussed ways to interest women in joining worthwhile organizations and, after recruitment means of keeping them as active participants.

Virginia Hussong, vice president of the Deanery, presided at the business session. She announced that special Masses would be celebrated in both St. Ann's and St. Ignatius Loyola Churches on April 26, the Feast of Our Lady of Good Counsel, patroness of the National Council of Catholic Women.

She accepted, for the Steuben Deanery, a large statue of Our Lady of Grace which was presented to the Deanery by Mrs. Angelo Giglio Sr. The statue was enshrined during the meeting.

Refreshments were served, buffet style. Elizabeth Brill was in charge of decorations.

The refreshment committee was headed by Mrs. William Leonard and Mrs. Edward Deegan, assisted by Mesdames Warner Murphy, J. Vincent O'Brien, Howard Sisco, Ernest Kopeck, James Clark, Harold Griswold, R. G. Morey and George E. Hussong.

Pre-Cana Talks Slated On Law Subjects

Hornell — First in a series of Pre-Cana Talks on marriage was given by Rev. Otto J. Vogt Monday evening in the Immaculate Conception School. He spoke on "Courtship and Marriage — A Way To Heaven."

Father Vogt outlined the basic qualities individuals should have as a foundation for a successful marriage and which couples should look for in each other during courtship, the period when they are getting to know each other.

Some of these qualifications are maturity, good judgment, youthfulness, approval of parents, religion, educational equality, personality, and humility.

FATHER VOGT said that marriage is a sacrament. It belongs to God and thus it is a lifetime job. It is permanent and exclusive. It is deserving of preparation for the understanding of the great job of marriage.

Some of the factors that were pointed out that can cause problems in marriage are: alcohol, religious differences, birth control, and career women. He summarized the purpose of marriage by quoting St. Francis, "...to people the earth with adorers of God, and to fill Heaven with saints."

The next talk will be given Monday evening, April 28, at 7:15 p.m. in the Immaculate Conception School, by Leo Gangl, A. T.orney, on "Civil Law and Marriage," and Rev. William M. Thomas on "Church Law and Marriage." These talks are sponsored by the Family Life Committee of the Council of Catholic Women of which Mrs. Paul-Gillis is chairman.
